INTRODUCTION.

The author of this volume published, in 1869, the Genealogy of the Stickney Family, a work of over five hundred pages, which contained in its appendix, his own maternal line of descent from Philip Fowler of Ipswich, Mass., 1634.

A better arrangement of the records of Essex County, new indexes, the placing in volumes of the Court papers on file, have enabled him to correct and add considerable more information regarding the family, and, at the request of many of its members, he concluded to collect what records he could of the children of Philip Fowler, and publish the line of his son Joseph of Ipswich, to the present time. Nearly all of the records of the descendants of his other sons, Samuel of Salisbury, and Thomas of Amesbury, are collected and arranged by the writer, to the present time, but owing to his advanced age, remain unpublished.

The first record we find of Philip Fowler is at Marlborough, Wiltshire, England (a place of great antiquity, and once a Roman station), where he had his daughter Margaret baptized, and where she was afterwards married to Christopher

Osgood. He is next found on the list of passengers to New England in the ship "Mary and John" of London, where he arrived May, 1634, probably at Ipswich, which was situated on a navigable river and was thus described in 1614, by Capt. John Smith, under its Indian name of Agawam. "Here are many rising hills and on their tops and descents are many corne fields and delightful groues. On the east is an isle of two or three leagues in length; the one halfe plaine marish ground, fit for pasture, or salt ponds, with many faire high groues of mulberry trees. There are also oakes, pines, walnuts and other wood, to make this place an excellent habitation."

A settlement was made here March, 1633, by John Winthrop, junior, son of Gov. John Winthrop, and twelve other men. It was incorporated by the name of Ipswich, 5 Aug., 1634, and Johnson remarks 1646, "The peopling of this towne is by men of good ranke and quality, many of them having the yearly revenue of large lands in England, before they came to this wildernesse."

It was the shire town of the County of Essex. Here resided Gov. Thomas Dudley, Dep. Gov. Samuel Symonds, Major Gen'l Daniel Denison and many other magnates of the Colony.

The early records of births, marriages and deaths of Ipswich and Wenham are lost, as are many of the returns, required by law to be made to the County Court of Essex, which account for the many deficiencies in the oldest families.

The materials for this work have been obtained with great care and expense from the archives of the State, from the records in the offices of Register of Deeds, Probate and Clerk of Courts, from Town and Church records, gravestones, and from numerous letters received from different members of the family.

The ancient manner of dating and orthography has been retained and literal copies given of the old records.

Prior to 1752, the legal year began on the 25th of March, and March was called the first month, while February was the twelfth. The historical began with the 1st of January and closed with December. In old records these two methods were frequently combined: thus Feb. 9, 1723-4, which means that the year was 1723 of the legal, but 1724 of the historical year.

Philip Fowler is the first generation; his children the second; his grandchildren the third, and so on. It is noticed at the commencement of each generation, and in the running title. They are numbered in order on the left hand of the page, before the name of each individual in the genealogical series. The family of each son and daughter will be found with the number they have in the margin.

When a woman's name occurs thus:—Margaret (Norman) Morgan, page 24, the reader will understand that the name in parenthesis is her original or maiden name, and the name following is the name acquired by marriage.

When deeds and probate records are referred to, thus:—
"Essex Deeds, 36: 18," the figures before the colon denote the volume, those after, the folio where the deed or document quoted may be found on record.

The writer has been greatly encouraged in the progress of this work and assisted in collecting its materials by the Hon. As a Fowler of Concord, N. H., John Willis Fowler of South Newbury, N. H., and many others; but last, not least, by his second daughter, who has been amanuensis, proof-reader and preparer of the indexes. Thanks are due to those who have had the charge of printing this work, to those who have contributed their portraits, the steel engravings of Judge Fowler and of Dr. Paul A. Stackpole; the fine heliotype of George F. Fowler, and those etched by Miss H. Frances Osborne of Peabody, Mass., with a faithful result; and to Harry Smith Fowler of Brooklyn, N. Y., for the contribution of the beautiful colored lithograph of the English Coat-of-Arms of the Fowlers.

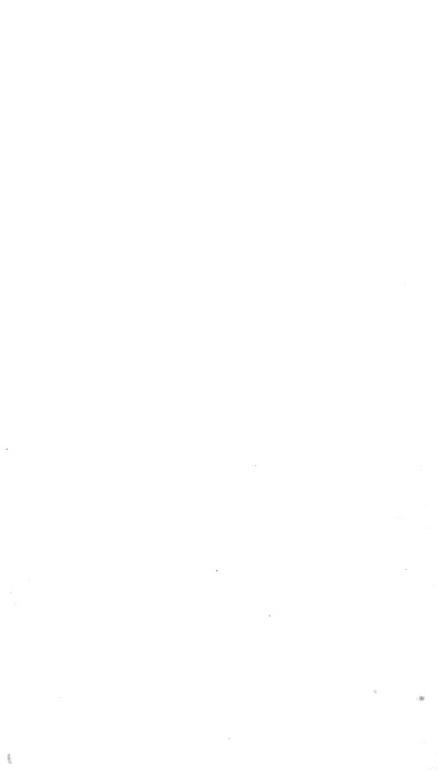

Any correction of errors, or additional information, is desired.

THE FOWLER FAMILY IN ENGLAND.

The Fowler family are probably of Norman descent, and the name is said by Camden in his "Remaines Concerning Brittaine," to have been derived from an office they had held.

The first mention found of it, used as a surname, is by Burke, as that of a "Richard Fowler of Foxley, in the County of Bucks, accompanying Richard Cœur de Lion to the Holy Land, and maintaining during the war, a body of British bowmen (all his own tenants) in the army of that prince, and during the siege of Acon (now Acre), defeating by his extraordinary vigilance a nocturnal attempt of the Infidels, to surprise the Christian camp. For these services his royal master knighted him on the field of battle, and caused his crest, a hand and lure, to be changed for 'the vigilant owl.'" This occurred in 1191. He had Welsh possessions at "Abbey Cwm-Hir," County of Radnor. His Arms were: - "Azure, a chevron argent charged with three crosses formee sable, between three lions passant guadrant, or." The original crest was:-"A cubit arm, habited azure, holding in the hand proper, a lure vert, feathered argent lined or, twisted round the arm." crest given by Richard Cœur de Lion, was:—An owl argent, to which was afterwards added a ducal coronet, or.

The shield is of azure or blue, which is the emblem in heraldry of justice, humility and loyalty. A chevron (two rafters (xix) of a house joined together in chief, and descending like a pair of compasses to the extremities of the shield) betokens the achievement of some business of moment, and is assigned by heralds to such as have served their king and country. The original crest was a hand and arm cut off evenly at the elbow, dressed in silver, with the hand of the natural color, holding a green lure feathered with silver lined with gold, twisted round the arm. The other crest as given in the colored lithograph.

Richard Fowler was the progenitor of a family which flourished over five hundred years in Buckinghamshire and in other parts of England. From him descended in the fifth generation, Sir Richard Fowler, eldest son of Sir William Fowler of Ricot, County of Oxford, who soon after the commencement of the reign of Edward IV, was knighted by him and created Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster. He received a grant of the manor of Buckingham, which was forfeited by attainder in 1460. He also represented his native county in Parliament in 1467, and died 3 Nov., 1477, leaving a will directing that St. Rumbald's shrine and an aisle in Buckingham Church be rebuilt, and in this aisle Sir Richard Fowler and Joan, his wife, were buried.

His son, Sir Richard (Quartermayne) Fowler had large estates, and his son and heir, Edward Fowler, entertained in Sept., 1514, Henry VIII's first Queen, Catharine of Arragon, who received there, the (to her) joyful news of the defeat of the Scottish army at Flodden Field.

Thomas Fowler, brother of Sir Richard, the Chancellor, was an Esquire of the body to King Edward IV. His descendant Bryan was seated at St. Thomas, County of Stafford. William, brother to Bryan, seated himself at Harnage Grange in Shropshire, male line now extinct, and James another brother at Pendeford, Staffordshire, whose representative, in 1837, was Thomas Fowler, Esquire, of Pendeford Hall, who bore the Fowler Arms with the crest as given in the lithograph.

From this ancient family our emigrant ancestor, Philip Fowler, may have been descended; no especial attempt to ascertain his parentage in England has been made; tradition says they went from France to Wales.

Froude in his History of England, Vol. V, pp. 129, 131, mentions John Fowler, a member in 1547 of the household of King Edward VI, who was so influential with that young monarch, that he was employed by Lord Seymour to secure the royal assent to his contemplated marriage with the Princess, afterwards Queen, Elizabeth, and subsequently, the royal approval of his already secretly accomplished marriage with Catharine Parr, widow of Henry VIII.

William Fowler, born about 1560, died in 1614, was one of the poets that frequented the Court of James VI, whose works have been preserved. He was a lawyer and clergyman, as well as a poet.

John Fowler, a learned printer, born in Bristol, removed his press to Antwerp, more effectually to aid the Catholics, and died in 1579.

Christopher Fowler, an English clergyman, born in 1611, left the established church in 1641, and joined the Presbyterians among whom he became eminent, and died in 1676.

Edward Fowler, born at Westerleigh, Gloucestershire, in 1632, was distinguished as a divine, published a discourse on the "Design of Christianity" in 1671, which Bunyan attacked, and another on "Christian Liberty" in 1680. He was made Bishop of Gloucester in 1691, died in 1714, and "has a long epitaph in the northeast corner of the church at Hendon; and on the same corner of the church-yard is an altar tomb and sarcophagus with two weeping boys, inscribed:—'To the memory of Edward Fowler, Esq., who deceased 29 June, 1710, leaving two daughters, Anna Maria and Elizabeth, by Mary, his wife, daughter of James Chadwick, Esq., and Mary, his wife, daughter and sole heir to Abp. Tillotson. This tomb is erected by John Chadwick and Tho. Mansfield, Esgrs., his widow's executors, according to his Will. She died 9 May, 1728, near 42 years of age, and lies here interred with her dear husband." Taken from the "Gentleman's Magazine" for 1786, part I, p. 100.

Among the great land owners of Great Britain in 1874, according to a return to Parliament, were John Fowler of Bracemore, Seck Broom, N. B., etc., 47,248 acres; Robert Fowler of Rockinston, Enfield, County Meath, 8,026 acres.

At the Parliamentary elections in Great Britain, London, 1 April, 1880, were elected, W. Fowler, liberal, for Cambridge; H. H. Fowler, liberal, for Wolverhampton.

AMERICAN RECORD.

THE FOWLER FAMILY.

1 Philip Fowler, one of the founders of New England, was probably born in Marlborough, Wiltshire, England, about 1590. He embarked with his family, in the "Mary and John," of London, Robert Sayres, master, and while lying in the river Thames, they "were made stay of untill further order" from the Council, 28 Feb., 1633-4, owing to misrepresentation of the colonies, by its enemies, which had then reached England, and the master was required, among other things, to give a bond of £100, that the service of the Church of England should be said daily on board, and attended by the passengers, also that they should take the "Oathes of Allegiance and Supremacie," which were taken by the passengers, the 24th of March, 1633-4, when they were allowed to proceed on their voyage, and arrived in New England, in May, 1634.

He received a grant of land in Ipswich, Essex County, Mass., the same year, on which he settled, and where he resided until his death. It is still occupied by one of his descendants, bearing the family name.

In 1634 (3 Sept.) he took the Freeman's Oath.

In 1634-5 (5 Jan.) it was, by the town of Ipswich, "Given and granted unto John Webster, and unto Mathias Currin (Curwen), and unto Philip Fowler, and unto William Moody, and unto Thomas Dorman, and unto Christopher Osgood, and unto Joseph Medcalf, to each of them, four acres of meadow and marsh ground as it will arise in 20 poles or rods, by the land side, unto them, their heirs or assigns, lying northward of the Town, the marsh is not limited unto them."

In 1634-5 (26 Jan.) "Given and granted unto Mr. (Richard) Wa(ttles), Mr. (John) Fawn and to Philip Fowler, and to Goodman Andrews, and to Christopher Osgood, a Hill of ground containing 30 acres of land, unto each of them 6 acres of land, and unto their heirs forever."

In 1635 (20 April) "Granted to Philip Fowler, thirty-four acres of land lying on the northwest side of the mile river, having the land of Richard Jacob on the northeast, and Mr. Woodmansey's farm on the southwest. Likewise ten acres in Jeffries neck, lying between John Hassal and Robert Andrews. Likewise six acres of meadow lying towards the neck, having the little neck on the northeast, Christopher Osgood on the northwest, and Mr. Thomas Bresey on the southwest. Likewise six acres of planting ground on the hill north side of the town, having Christopher Osgood's towards the northwest, and George Varnham southeast. Also an house lot in High Street, having Michael Cartwright on the northwest, and John Hassall on the southeast, to enjoy to him, his heirs and assigns forever."

In 1636 "Granted Philip Fowler, one house lot in the cross street called the meeting house lane, being about one acre of ground, having John Gage his house lot on the southeast, and Thomas Scott's houselot on the northwest. Also ten acres of upland lying beyond Muddy river, within the common fence, having ten acres of the like land of John Webster's on the southeast, and ten acres of Christopher Osgood's on the northwest. Also six acres of meadow near the highway to Jeffries neck, having a parcel of meadow of Mr. (John) Tuttle's on the south, and a parcel of meadow of Christopher Osgood's on the north."

In 1636 (13 July) Philip Fowler, with Thomas Dudley (Governor of Mass.), and Robert Lord, all of Ipswich, witnessed the Will of Widow Sarah Dillingham; 1st, 12th mo., 1641–2 he witnessed a deed of Christopher Osgood's (his sonin-law); 24 Feb., 1650–1 the agreement between Thomas Rowell of Salisbury, and Margary Osgood (his daughter), in a marriage contract; 26 July, 1661, a deed of William Wild of Ipswich, to Robert Andrews of Topsfield.

In 1642 (29th, 1st mo.) he was on Jury of Trials at Ipswich Court; and 29th, 7th mo., 1657, on the Grand Jury.

In 1643 (15th, 2d mo.) he owed 18 pence to William Nevill, as mentioned in his Will, it is to be paid to William Robinson.

In 1646 at a meeting of the Freemen, he is chosen with William Adams, to judge of defaults; and 27th Feb., 1648-9 Surveyor, also 27 Feb., 1654-5, 25 Feb., 1655-6, and 17 Feb., 1656-7; also Surveyor of fences from the common fence gate to Jeffery's neek, 7 April, 1662.

In 1647 he was allowed by the town, 7 shillings 8 pence, for his work at the watch-house, to be paid by the constables; 6th, 12th mo., 1647–8, he with John Woodam, to build the chimney at the watch house and do what clapboarding was needed, for which they were to have £3–6–8, and to have half their pay, when they began it, and the rest, when they finished the work. They each received £1–13–4 on the 23d, 11th mo., 1647-8; it was voted 23d Dec., 1656, to build a wharf for the town's use, and as a surveyor, he was to see to it.

In 1648-9 (25th, 11th mo.) he gave in his testimony at Court, in regard to the land of Humphrey Broadstreete of Ipswich, and in his behalf.

In 1649-50 (22d, 12th mo.) Henry Silsbye had 4 acres at the west meadows by Goodman Fowler's, granted him, if it be there to be had.

In 1650 (26th, 1st mo.) he "in regard of age, is freed from ordinary Trayning," which shows he was then sixty years of age.

In 1650 (19 April) in Will of Christopher Osgood of Ipswich, mentioned as "my father Phillip Fowler, to be overseer," it will be seen, he had married his daughter Margaret.

In 1651 "Phillip Fowler the elder, of Ipswich, did come before me, and in the presence of Joseph his sonne, & Martha his wife, & with their full & free consent, did adopt as his sonne, Phillip, the sonne of the sd. Joseph & Martha, to be as his sonne. Samuel Symonds."

In 1652 (7 May) the northeast boundary of the land of Solomon Martin of Andover, was upon his land, and in 1659 (1 June) Thomas Brigden of Charlestown, sells to John Wooddam, house, barn, etc., in Ipswich, bounded on "south by GOODMAN FOWLER."

In 1656, the Selectmen of Ipswich were to divide their town into classes of five, six and ten, and appoint a class-leader for the purpose of spinning. They were to assess each family a quarter, half or whole spinner, according to its other occupation. Each family which could furnish one spinner, should spin for thirty weeks in a year, three pounds of linen, cotton and woollen (monthly) and so proportionably, for a half or quarter spinner, on fine of 12d a month, for each pound short. The commons were to be cleared for sheep. The seed of hemp and flax to be saved. Under this division, the 13 March, Philip Fowler was assessed for half a spinner £45.

In 1658-9 (16 Feb.) "Voted by the Town, to choose a Committee, and give their apprehensions and reasons (to the Selectmen), who have a right to Commonage, and who not, and what else they conceive may conduce to the good of the Town, and when they are ready, the Selectmen to call the Town together, to hear what they conceive. This Committee, Are as followeth viz:—Our two honored Magistrates, our teaching and ruling Elders, Mr. Wade, George Giddings, Philip Fowler, Joseph Medcalf, Thomas Hart."

In 1658-9 (17 Feb.) Francis Ursellton of Topsfield, sold his dwelling house there, to John Godfry of Andover, half of the price "in marchantable indian corne, at twoe shillings eight pence pr. bushell (to be delivered) at the now dwelling house of Phillip Fowler, in Ipswich," etc. Witness "the marke of Phillip Fowler."

In 1658-9 (3 March) clothworker, he buys of Samuel Young-love, and Margaret his wife, for £10, land which he bought of George Palmer, "6 acres in comon field on north syde of the river," etc., bounding on land of said Philip on the southwest. On the 30 March, "atourney Phillip Fowler," gave in an additional inventory of the estate of Humphrey Gilbert. Amt. £53-0-11.

In 1659 (30 August) Mary, wife of Philip Fowler, and the mother of his children, died.

She was probably Mary Winsley, or Winslow, as sometimes called, the sister of Samuel Winsley, a grantee with Bradstreet, Dudley, and others, of Colchester 1638, and an early settler of Salisbury. He was made freeman, 22 May, 1639. Represented Salisbury, in the General Court, 1642, 1645, 1653, died 2 June, 1663. Two of the sons of Philip Fowler, Samuel and Thomas, settled near him in Salisbury and Amesbury and his son Samuel Winsley, left property to the children of Samuel Fowler above, and calls him cousin, and there was a family connection between his son Nathaniel Winsley's wife, and Philip Fowler's family.

He entered soon after into the following marriage contract:-

"Know all men by these presents, that I, Phillip Fowler of Ipswich, in the county of Essex, clothworker, for & in consideration of a contract of marriage with MARY NORTON, widdow, doe grant unto her as followeth, viz: that if it please the Lord the mariage intended be compleated, and she the sayd Mary my intended wife do survive, I doe covenant & grant unto her, that she shall injoye all my house and lands, with the appurtenances & privilidges thereunto belonging, untill my sonn Phillip (provided I make him my heir), shall come of age, and when he comes of age, I do grant unto her, that she shall possess and enjoy the chamber over the hall, with the table forme & cabbin beds, as alsoe the garretts & halfe the orchvard, and halfe the grasse of the close, & my six acres of land upon the hill, and the inward cellar to her owne proper use & behoofe, and alsoe liberty to make use of the lower roome for her necessary ocasions, with free liberty to make use of the well in the cellar to fetch watter, & all these to enjoye during the tyme of her naturall life, and then to return unto my children, or who of them, I shall dispose them unto, and further doe grant her liberty of barne roome to lay in her corne, and two load of hay, with roome in the cowe house for to sett two cowes, & grasse for to make two loads of hay a yeare, for the tyme of her life, as aforesayd. In wittness whereof, I have hereunto sett my hand & seale, the 27th of February, 1659.

Signed, sealed and delivered, in the presence of us,

WILLIAM NORTON.

DANIELL DAVISON (with a marke).

ROBERT LORD.

PHILLIP FOWLER (with a marke & seale).

PHILLIP FOWLER acknowledged this wrighting, tobe his act & deed, before me. Daniell Denison. February 27th; 1659."

In 1659-60 (27 February) Philip Fowler married, second, Mary, the widow of George Norton, who was undoubtedly the Mr. Norton, who came in the fleet with Higginson from London, April, 1629, and was sent by the company in England as a carpenter, and to receive a kind reception from the authorities of the plantation. Some of his work now remains in Salem, in the old First Church, which he was employed to build in 1634, for £100, which has been preserved by the Essex Institute, and placed in the rear of that Institution.

He was made freeman, 14 May, 1634; with wife Mary, of Salem, 1636; with others, was granted by the General Court, 13 May, 1640, Jeffery's Creek, now Manchester; removed to Gloncester, was its first representative 1642, also 1643, 1644. In 1656 he held a lease of Emanuel and Lucy (Winthrop) Downing of their farm in Salem, called by him "Groton," "in dear remembrance of his wife's ancestral home in the old country." He died in 1659, and his widow Mary was appointed executrix of his estate.

In 1660-1 (19 Feb.) the town granted Philip Fowler five acres of marsh; and 10 Feb., 1661-2 land at the west meadow.

In 1660 (22 Nov.) the Court issued a writ against "Philip Fowler, and Mary his wife, executrix to the estate of hir late Husband, George Norton, . . . for £30, on complaint of Mr. William Norton, aturney to Mr. Emanuel Downing." The case was continued 23 Nov., 1665, when a case was made by Phil-LIP FOWLER, and MARY his wife, as plaintiff, against Roger Preston, defendant, in an action of debt of £18, due for rent, and damages, according to attachment, dated 13th, 9th mo., 1665. The jury found for the plaintiff, £19 damages, and 24s. 8d., cost, 28th, 9th mo., 1665. Robert Lord his atorney, acknowledged a judgment of 18s. 2d., due to Mr. William Norton, 28th, 9th mo., 1665. It seems that 4 Aug., 1656, Lucie Downing of Salem, with consent of her husband Emanuell Downing, let and farmed, unto George Norton, sometime of Salem, carpenter, her farm called Groton, in Salem, near to Gov. Endicott's for the term of ten years, from 1 March, 1655-6, for £18 per annum. 14 March, 1658-9, an agreement was made between George Norton and Roger Preston, for the lease "of the farme the said Norton now dwelleth on," he to enter 15 March, 1659-60. Witness Joseph Fowler.

In 1661 (19 Oct.) he with wife Mary, gave in testimony at Court, in regard to a defect in the highway.

In 1663 his residence was in High Street, on the south side, adjoining the house lots of John Woodam and Philip Call.

In 1663 (11 May) an agreement was made, by which Philip Fowler, Senior, delivered to Philip Bill of "Jubaque," "two young heifers, with him to abide and continue for the terme of seven years" etc. It appears that Philip Bill, "had gone out of this jurisdiction," and Philip Fowler, Senior, entered a suit against him, 3 Nov., 1668, in the case for security for a parcel of cattle, value £20, and at the same time appoints his grandchild "Phillip Fowler, to be his true and lawful atturney," when he signs "the marke P of Phillip Frowler" (and a green seal), and acknowledged it, the same date. Accordingly he 5 Nov., 1668, "Attached 3 cowes & 2 heiferes, & put into the hands James Bill, to be responsible, according to the tenour of the attachment, Pr. me Phillip Fowler, Marshal deputy." The case was found for Phillip Fowler, senior, 24th, 9th mo., 1668.

In 1663-4 (4 Jan.) he was granted liberty to fell three white oaks; 18 Feb., 1666-7, "to fell for fenceing stuff for his meadow;" and 27 Nov., 1668 to fell trees for fenceing.

In 1664-5 (14 Feb.) he owns single share four, on the "list of the inhabitants that have shares in Plum Island, Castle Neck and Hog Island."

In 1668 after having given trades to his children, and living to see them all settled in life, he selected from among his grandchildren to take care of him in his old age, Philip his namesake, as appears by the following deed of gift, the original of which is on file in the Clerk of Courts, Bk. 36: 18.

"This present writing wittnesseth, that I, Philip ffowler of Ipswich, in the county of Essex, clothworker, for and in considderation of that naturall affection I doe beare unto my Grandchild Phillip ffowler, as also in considderation of his being with me, and doeing my busines for me, as formerly, I doe by these presents freely give and grant, and by these fully confirme, unto him the sayd Phillip, my Grandchild, all that my now dwelling house and lands I stand now possesst off, after my decease (exsepting what by agreement with my wife upon mariage, weh is put in writing and recorded), for him, the sayd Phillip, my Grandchild, Imediatly after my decease. PHILLIP FOWLER acknowledged the above written to be his act & deed and MARY FOWLER did surrender her right in the house and land herein conveyed, before me, Feb. 14, 1676–7. Daniell Denison." Recorded 14 Feb., 1676–7, Ipswich Series, Essex Deeds, Bk. 4:74.

This was not his homestead. He usually made his mark, but if this deed is copied correctly by the recorder, it had his autograph signature.

The Court record states, that "Philip Fowler, senior, dyed 24 of June, 1679" in Ipswich. During his long life, we find no record that a descendant would regret to see.

He died intestate, and administration on what was left of his estate, he having previously disposed of most of his property among his children, was granted to his grandson Philip, 29 Sept., 1679.

The Inventory recorded, Ipswich Series, Essex Deeds, Bk. 4: 288, we insert as a curiosity.

His widow Mary Fowler, probably died just previous to 5 Nov., 1694, as at that time, a bond on file in the Essex Probate records states, that administration was then granted on the estate of George Norton of Salem, to his son John, to finish it, after the death of Mary the widow.

The children of Philip and Mary (Winsley?) Fowler, were:--

- 2. Margaret, bapt. 25 May, 1615; m. Christopher Osgood and others.
- 3. Mary, b. ---; m. William Chandler.
- Samuel, b. in deposition 1618; m. ———; 2d. Wid. Margaret Morgan.
- 5. Hester, b. --- ; m. Jathnell Bird; Robert Collins.
- 6. Joseph, b. probably about 1629; m. Martha Kimball.
- 7. Thomas, b. in deposition 1636; m. Haunah Jordan.

SECOND GENERATION.

2 Margaret (Philip <sup>1</sup>) was baptized in Marlborough, Wiltshire, England, 25 May, 1615; married there 1st, in St. Mary's Church, 28 July, 1633, Christopher Osgood, the son of Christopher of Marlborough; grandson of Christopher of Salisbury, Wiltshire, England.

It seems that Christopher Osgood married 1st at St. Mary's, Marlborough, Eng., 21 April, 1632, Mary Everatt, and had daughter Mary, baptized there 17 March, 1632-3; his wife Mary, dying there, was buried 21 April, 1633. This daughter Mary came to Ipswich with him, and married there 1 June, 1651, John Lovejoy, and is named in his will, and the memoranda accompanying it. He probably had brothers William of Salisbury, and John of Andover. For some of their, and Christopher's descendants, see N. E. Hist. Gen. Register.

Christopher Osgood, and his wife Margaret (Fowler) Osgood, came passengers in the same vessel as her parents, the "Mary and John," from London, 24 March, 1633-4, and settled in Ipswich, Mass.

In 1634-5 (5 Jan.) he received a grant from the town of Ipswich, of "four acres of meadow and marsh ground, . . . by the land side, lying northward of the Town, the marsh is not limited," and 26 Jan., 1634-5, "a Hill of ground containing 6 acres of land," and in 1635, "six acres of meadow towards the Neck, having Philip Fowler east, and a Creek on the northwest, also six acres of planting ground upon the hill, on the north side of the Town, having Philip Fowler on the east, and Robert Andrews on the west, and John Cross on the south." Also upland beyond muddy river, forming northwest boundary of Philip Fowler's.

In 1635 (16 May) he took the Freeman's Oath.

In 1641-2 (1st, 12th mo.) he was of Ipswich, brickmaker, and deeds to Moses Pengry land on north side of the river bounding southeast on Philip Fowler's land. Witness, Philip Fowler.

In 1642 (29th, 1st mo.) he was on Jury of Trials, at Ipswich Court, also 28th, 1st mo., 1648, and 26th, 1st mo., 1650.

The date of his death has not been found, but the following is a copy of his will, recorded Essex Probate Bk. 1: 234.

"I, Christopher Osgood of Ipswich, being weake in body, but of perfect understandinge & memory, doe comitt my soule into the hands of my redeemer, & concerning that little Estate the Lord hath lent mee, this is my last will & testament.

First, I do give unto my oldest daughter Mary Osgood, ten pounds, to be paid her or her assigns at her day of marriage, & to my other three daughters, Abigail, Elisabeth & Deborah, five pounds to each of them, to be paid to them, and every of them, at or upon their respective dayes of marriage.

And to my sonne Christopher=Osgood, I do give my house and lands, to have & enjoy the same, at the age of two & twentie yeares. And my will is, that my beloved wife Margery Osgood, shal be the sole executrix of this my will, & to enjoy the proffitt & benefitt of my estate, duringe the minority of my children, as abovesaid. And lastly, I doe request and desire Mr. John Norton, and my Father Phillip Fowler, to be overseers, that this my will be performed, according to the true intent thereof.

In witness heere of, I have subscribed my hand, the nine-teenth day of Aprill, 1650.

CHRISTOPHER OSGOOD.

I do also desire our respected Major (Daniel Denison) to a joyne with Mr Norton & my Father.

Witness.

NATHANIEL MATHEW. JOSEPH ROWLANDSON. DANIEL ROLFE.

Memorandum which was forgotten, my will is, that my oldest daughter marry not, without the desire of my wife & the consent of my overseers, & that my younger daughters, marry not without the consent of their mother & the advice of the overseers, if it may be had, and that their several portions be paid unto them when they shall attaine the age of twenty yeares, if they be not marryed before that age.

CHRISTOPHER OSGOOD.

Proved by the oath of Daniel Rolfe, the 10th of the 8th mo. 1650, per me. Robert Lord."

In 1650 (15 Oct.) widow Margery Osgood, petitions for an abatement of the portions given by the estate of Christopher Osgood, to eldest daughter, second daughter, eldest son, who was to have house and land, and pay to the two younger children, when 18 years of age, the property not proving sufficient, recorded 15 Dec., 1650.

The children of Christopher and Margaret (Fowler) Osgood, were:—

8. Abigail, b. about 1637; m. Shoreborne Wilson, 9 April, 1657. Abigail Wilson was to receive £5, from the estate of her mother, then Margery Colman of Nantucket, by deed dated 27 May, 1673, it to be paid, by her brother Thomas Osgood of Newbury, one year after her mother's decease. In 1666 (23 Nov.) Shoreborne Wilson deposes that he is 29 years of age, which makes him born in 1637. He was the son of William, was a cooper by trade, and resided in Ipswich where he took the oath of Fidelity in 1678, and their descendants still reside.

9. Elizabeth, b. ———; mentioned in her father's will, dated 19 April, 1650, but not living 24 Feb., 1650-1, the last of the year.

10. Christopher, b. in Ipswich, in 1643; married four wives, and had sixteen children. He removed to Andover. In 1665 (1 April) he agrees to pay all the debts of his mother Coleman, to which he took oath in Court, March, 1672, as he was then sued by heirs of Thomas Rowell, he offering them the value in land, but they desiring it in money. In 1666 (2 Oct.) he sells the dwelling house and grounds in Ipswich, left him by his father, to Thomas Metcalf; also sells 18 July, 1722, a half right in the common lands in Ipswich, belonging to his father's estate, to Edmund Heard. In 1670 (15 July) of Andover, joyner, and buys of his mother, Margery Colman of Nantucket, for £3, land on northwest side of Shawshine river, in Andover. Ack. 15 June, 1681. In 1671 he deposes that he is 27 years of age, and his wife Hannah, 30 years. In 1673 (27 May) he occupied the house and land, of his mother Margery Colman of Nantucket, in which she dwelt with her former husband, Thomas Rowell, and 8 June, 1675, she mentions that she had let unto her son Christopher Osgood of Andover, her house and land for twelve years, for which he is to pay her £15, when the said twelve years is expired, and at this time orders him to pay it to her son Thomas Osgood. He took the Freeman's Oath, 21 Feb., 1675-6; the Oath of Allegiance at Andover, 11 Feb., 1678; Constable 1676; an ardent patriot, imprisoned some days by Gov. Andros, without warrant; Selectman of Andover, 1678, 79, 80, 83, 84, 86, 87, 88, 93, 96; Captain of a Company in the militia in 1690, and in active service having his servant killed by the Indians; Rep. to General Court 1690, 93, 96, 1705, 9; member of the Church in South Parish, organized 7 Oct., 1711, composed of fourteen male members, his name on the list next the ministers. died in 1723 æt. 80. His will dated 24 July, 1722; proved 10 June, 1723; recorded Essex Probate Bk. 13: 324. Christopher, b. 28 June, 1675, was a millwright, and built and owned the first grist mill on Concord River, lived in Billerica, where he was a man of note. Another son Ezekiel, b. 5 Nov., 1679, lived in Andover, had son Samuel, b. 1714, who had son Thomas, b. 1767, lived in Charlestown, and had son Samuel, b. there, 30 Aug., 1812; graduated at Harvard College 1832; attended the Divinity School, preached in the Unitarian denomination for several years, and finally became pastor of the "Church of the Messiah" in New York He resigned and visited Europe in 1869, and City, N. Y. on his return entered the Protestant Episcopal Church, "where until his death he was not only an active spirit, but a positive influence." He received the degree of S. T. D.,

- in 1857, of Harvard College, and that of LL. D., in 1872, of Hobart College. He married 24 May, 1843, Ellen Haswell Murdock of Boston, and had three daughters. He was greatly distinguished as a divine and writer, and died in New York City, 14 April, 1880. See N. E. Hist. Gen. Register of April, 1882, for a fuller sketch of his life and portrait.
- Deborah, b. ——; m. John Ross, 28 Aug., 1663. She received £5 from her mother, in the same manner as her sister Abigail, 27 May, 1673. He died 4 March, 1692-3.
- 12. Thomas, b. in Ipswich about 1651, a posthumous child; m. Susannah, had ten children. In 1673 (27 May), Thomas Osgood of Newbury, received a deed of gift from his mother, Margery Colman of Nantucket, late of Andover, of a dwelling house, barn, land, etc., "wherein I lately dwelled in my former husband Thomas Rowell, his tyme" and he is to "pay, or cause to be payd unto my sonn Jacob Rowell, the full sum of Twenty nyne pounds ten shillings, when he comes to the age of twenty one years, according to the order of court," and to her daughters Abigail Wilson, and Deborah Ross, £5 each. In 1675 (8 June) was to receive, by the order of his mother, from his brother Christopher Osgood of Andover, £15, towards paying the above portion to Jacob Rowell, her son. In 1681 (6 June) Thomas Osgood, of Andover, makes an agreement with his brother Jacob Rowell, carpenter, of Elizabeth Town, N. J., for £5, and £29-10-0, "already paid by my brother Thomas Ossgood (aforesayd), to George Norton (1676)" etc., etc. Mentions land sold by Thomas Osgood, to (his uncle) William Chandler. living in Newbury in 1673, and in Andover in 1675, took the Freeman's oath, at the same time with his brother Christopher, 21 Feb., 1675-6, removed with his family, after 1692, not known where.

MARGARET (FOWLER) OSGOOD, married for her second husband, Thomas Rowell of Salisbury, soon after 1650, as she then entered into a marriage covenant with him, the original of which is on file in Essex Registry of Probate:—

"Know all men by these presents, yt I, Thomas Rowell of Salisbury, doe hereby covenant & make this agremt, concerning Margere Ossgood, ye widdow of Christopher Ossgood of Ipswich, whoome God willing, I intend to make my Lawfull wife, & now being in perfect healthe, sense & memory, doe bind myselfe, to the premisses ffollowing:—Videly:—As I take her to be my loving wife, soe I freely take her issue, being two sonnes, & two daughters, as my one, to endeavor to bring them upp, as a ffather ought to doe: & ffurther more, I bind myselfe, that the said Margere shall quiettly enjoy & posesse, the halfe of my estate, which I shall be posessed withall, when it shall please God to change my life, besides the part of portion of goods, which I shall have with her, paying to the said issue, there severall portons, mentioned in there ffathers will, according to the appointed times, out of the said estate, which I shall enjoy with her. In wittnes whereof, I have hereunto sett my hand, this 24th of ffebruary: 1650. In the presence of,

PHILLIP FFOWLER (P marke). WILLIAM BRIDGES. WILLIAM CHANDLER.

THOMAS ROWELL (the marke of).

Received in court, held at Ipswich, the 30th of Sept., 1662, & alowed of, by the court. As attest. Robert Lord, cler."

He was one of the original proprietors of Salisbury, 1639; took the Oath of Fidelity there in 1646; is said to have a wife in England 24th, 2d mo., 1649, and a son Valentine Rowell at Salisbury, who married 14 Nov., 1643, Joanna Pinder, had six children, and died 17 May, 1662. His widow Joanna, married, second, prior to 1671, William Sargent. He is of Ipswich, 25th, 6th mo., 1652, when the town bargained with him and Henry Pinder, "to build a sufficient Prison house, . . . adjoining the watch house," and 30th, 6th mo., 1655, he is allowed 16 shillings, for mending the bridge over the river.

In 1656-7 (12 Feb.) Thomas Rowell and Alex. Knight make an agreement with Robert Collings, to lease his farm in Ipswich for seven years from date, excepting two acres and the home lot for himself.

In 1659 (5 April) when of Andover, carpenter, with wife Marjery, sells Lieut. Robert Pike of Salisbury, for £14, "all my farm in the said town of Salisbury, containing by estimation, six score acres, be it more or less, viz.: twenty acres of it was granted by the town of Salisbury, forty acres bought of Mr Samuel Hale, and forty acres bought of Mr Thomas Bradbury, which was sometime John Hoge's; all which several parcels of land, are situate, lying, and being within the bounds of Salisbury, up at the new town."

He died in Andover 8 May, 1662; his will dated 24 Feb., 1650-1, proved 30 Sept., 1662, is recorded Essex Probate (Gray's Copy), Bk. 1: 173-175. Inventory taken 16 June, 1662, amount £156-10-2, allowed 30 Sept., 1662, when Mar-GERY, his widow, was administratrix of estate. Inventory £123 By contract before marriage, the widow to have half the estate, court orders £29-10-0 to be paid to Jacob Rowell, his son, when 21 years of age, and to his grandchildren, the children of Valentine Rowell, £7-4-0 to eldest son, and 20 shillings apiece to the other five. Additional inventory sworn to, 28th, 4th mo., 1681, when son Jacob Rowell was appointed to take the place of Margary, his widow. Jacob Rowell is then called the only child, who had then become of age, at which time he was appointed adm'r, to take the place of his mother Margary, the widow, who had removed out of the jurisdiction (Nantucket). He speaks of an agreement between his father and mother before marriage. Appraisers, Dudley Bradstreet and Thomas Chandler. Some of the estate was on the Indian Plains, being the third division meadow, on the west side of Shawshine river, and upland in the swamp division.

The child of Thomas and Margaret (Fowler) (Osgood) Rowell was:—

Jacob, b.——1660; m. Mary Younglove, 29 April, 1690, who
 d. April, 1691; m. 2d, Elizabeth Wardwell, 21 Sept., 1691, by whom he had two daughters.

In 1673 (27 May) he is to receive his portion £29-10-0 of his brother Thomas Osgood of Newbury (see p. 15), and 8 June, 1675, a feather bed and bolster, which his mother left in her son-in-law John Lovejoy's hands. In 1681 (6'June) he is a carpenter of Elizabeth Town, N. J., when he makes an agreement with his brother Thomas Osgood of Andover, for £5, and £29-10-0 "already paid by my brother Thomas Ossgood (aforesayd), to George Norton (1676)" etc. In 1692-3 he had a shop lot granted to him on the south side of the river, 28 feet front on the street, being the 9th lot from the bridge in Ipswich. In 1697-8 (11 March) he is of Ipswich, with wife Elizabeth, and sells Major John March of Newbury, all his right in estate, as "sole heir to my father Thomas Rowell's Estate, in the Townes of Salsbury and Amesbury . . . also sole administrator, . . . and alsoe those lands, that was given by my said Father, unto my brother Vollentine (half brother), is now possessed off, are excepted." Witnesses, Phillip Fowler and Joseph Fowler (his cousins, sons of Joseph Fowler). He died in Ipswich, 18 Feb., 1700-1.

Widow Margaret (Fowler) (Osgood) Rowell, married third, prior to 1670, her fellow townsman, Thomas Coleman or COULTMAN, as he wrote it, as his third wife. He was born in 1602, came from Marlborough, Wiltshire, England, in the "James," which arrived at Boston, 3 June, 1635, and settled in Newbury, Mass., the same year. He was one of the partners or purchasers, of one-twentieth part, of the island of Nantucket, in 1659, being of those chosen by the first ten purchasers, as partners. He was on a Jury there, 20 Oct., 1673. In 1670 (15 July) "MARGERY COLEMAN, administratrix to the estate of Thomas Rowell, my former husband, late of Andover, deceased, with the full consent of Thomas Coleman, of the Island of Nantuckett, my present Husband," for £3, "payd by my son Christopher Ossgood, of Andover, Joyner," sells him land on northwest side of Shawshine river, in Andover. Witnesses Simon Bradstreet (Governor), Dudley Bradstreet, Marcy Bradstreet. Ack. 15 June, 1681.

In 1673 (27 May) she gives by deed of gift, to her son Thomas Osgood of Newbury (see p. 15), and in 1675 (8 June) had left her house and land, for twelve years, to her son Christopher Osgood (see p. 14).

THOMAS COLEMAN died in Nantucket before 1682, and his widow:—

Margaret (Fowler) (Osgood) (Rowell) (Coleman) married for her fourth husband, Thomas Osborne, a widower. He was admitted a member of the first Congregational Church, in Charlestown, 7th, 10th mo., 1644, was one of the founders of a Baptist Church there, 1665, and a licensed preacher, of that denomination, was fined and imprisoned for his belief, and fled from persecution, to Nantucket, where Margery Coleman took him for her fourth husband, as appears by Osborne's letter, to George Little, of Newbury, dated "Nantucket Island, 25 of the 8 month, 1682," published in the N. E. Hist. Gen. Register, 1862, p 25, from which is quoted the following:—

"This is farther to let you understand, I have married to one MARGERY COLMAN, a widdow, on the island Nantucket, where I now am. I believe God hath provided for me & given me a meet help, a very loving wife, one in charity & walking, & I judge for the Lord, & a true lover of the pepell & church of the Lord, & I se nothing but the Lord blessing our indavors, we may live comfortably, though both aged & but crazy. . . . I & my wife, entreat you to remember our harty love, to our brother Chandler & his wife, & all their children, intreating him, if he have my husband Colman's mind, which himself did write, & my husband Colman did set his hand to it, how he would leave me a comfortable maintynance, if he died, & left me a widow. My wife desires, he wold be pleased, to send it, if he have the same, as judging it might be of great benefit & use unto her, for her husband Colman's sons, deals very hardly by her, & keeps & takes what they can from me, and requites me very unworthily, for all my care & endeavors for their good, which is a great grief & trouble unto me, but we trust the Lord will bear us up & grant what is necessary, and give us contentment in our spirits, in that portion he in his wisdom shall carve out unto us."

The time of their decease has not been ascertained.

3 Mary (Philip<sup>1</sup>) was born in England, came with her parents to Ipswich, in 1634; married William Chandler, as his first wife, and lived in Newbury, at the foot of Chandler's lane, now Federal Street.

In 1650 WILLIAM CHANDLER witnessed a deed of Joseph Fowler (his brother-in-law), to Richard Kimball, senior, and the 24 Feb., 1650-1, the marriage contract of Thomas Rowell of Salisbury, with Margaret Osgood (his sister-in-law), the widow of Christopher Osgood of Ipswich.

Under the sumptuary law of 1651, the wife of William Chandler was presented to court, for wearing a silk hood and scarf, but was discharged, on proof that her husband was worth two hundred pounds.

In 1653 he was one of the inhabitants of Newbury, who petitioned the General Court, for the release of Robert Pike, who had been censured for appealing to that court.

He was on the Jury of Trials at courts held in 1654, 1658, 1671, and 1695.

In 1654 (5 April) he buys of Judith wife of Tristram Coffin, Jr., of Newbury, 4 acres of land in Newbury, property that came to her from her late deceased husband Henry Somerby, formerly laid out to Gyles Badger late of Newbury, deceased. This property he must have given by deed of gift, to his son Joseph Chandler, as it is in his possession 25 Sept., 1703, when he sells it to Henry Jaquish.

In 1663 he deposes that he is 48 years old, also that he was of the same age on the 29th, 4th mo., 1664.

In 1664 (20 Sept.) WILLIAM CHANDLER of Newbury, "out of that tender afection I beare unto my daughter Mary, do in reference to part of a portion in mariage with Percivall Lowle, of the abovesayd Towne and county" give her a "parcell of salt marsh lott, granted as my portion in Plumb Island, being the thirty third lott, known by the figure 33," which he acknowledged 22 June, 1670.

In 1665 (1 April) he witnessed a paper for Christopher Osgood (his nephew).

In 1671 (29 May) he with other church members, adhered to Rev. Mr. Parker's party, in the division that occurred in that society at that time. Coffin states that all the records of this church until 6 Dec., 1674, were in his handwriting, and were lost apparently by design, during the controversy in the church.

In 1672-3 (27 Feb.) when of Newbury, cooper, buys of Abraham Fitts of Ipswich, 2 acres of salt marsh in Salisbury, bounding on Ephraim Winsley's, which he gives by deed of gift dated 23 April, 1694, "to his natural son Samuel Chandler." The signature is "WM. CHANDLER, Senr," and ack. 24 April, 1694.

In 1672 (26 March) he deposes that when Margery Colman, adm'x of the estate of her deceased husband Thomas Rowell, was at his house in Newbury, the wife of Valentine Rowell came in and asked her mother-in-law, now Margery Colman, for £7, she owed her children. He testified that his sister Coleman told her, "yt she had disposed of all her estate to her sonne Christopher, who was to pay her debts & further s'd, y't my brother Chandler hath by writings in his house, to showe or manifest as mutch." Christopher Osgood offered them the value of £7, in land, which they refused, as they wanted it in money.

In 1674 he was appointed, by the County Court, searcher and sealer of sturgeon, which were then very abundant in the Merrimack river, and were caught and shipped in great quantities to England.

In 1680 (17 May) he was summoned to appear as a witness, at the Court of Assistants, in Boston, to be held on the 20 May, 1680, in the case of Mrs. Elizabeth Morse, of Newbury, who was to be tried for witcheraft. She was unjustly condemned to death.

"WM. CHANDLERS Bill of Cost.

In pr mis: for Attendance at Newbury before Mr. John Woodbridge two Daijes.  $\pounds 0-2-6$ . For two Daijes coming, a Day Attendance at Boston. 0-6-0. For two Daijes going Whome. 0-4-0.

I have p<sup>d</sup>most of my Expences by y<sup>e</sup> Way, in Mony out of my Pockett; I am aged, and came on Foot, w<sup>ch</sup> is verry hard for my aged Body to beare, therfore I hope this honnored Court will consider me for my Paines and hard Trauell."

On the 14 May, 1681, her husband William Morse petitions the General Court (in the handwriting of William Chandler), for the reprieve, of the sentence of death against his wife, which was granted through the firmness of Gov. Bradstreet.

"The following petition, without date or signature, but probably written between the years 1661 and 1682, is in the elegant handwriting of William Chandler. The justness of the sentiments, and the beauty of the style warrant the insertion of it."

"To the honored generall court. Whereas wee have these many yeares bin preserved by the good providence of God under a peaceable government in this wildernesse, and many worthy things have by you bin donne unto and for this people, which we acknowledge with all thankfulnesse, notwithstanding, may it please you to take notice of some greevance of many of the people of God in this country which lieth on their spirits, respecting some streightnes and streightening of yt christian liberty which wee think ought to be allowed unto all christians houlding the foundation and walking orderly, though of different persuations, namely, to worship God according to their owne judgement and consciences without being restrained to the judgements of others by human laws; and forasmuch as our gratious king is pleased in his letter [Sept. 1661], to declare (as wee apprehend), that a principall end of this plantation granted is yt liberty of conscience may bee heere enjoyed. Wee hope therefore it will be noe griefe of mind to you to consider of it, and to repeale such lawes as are a hinderance or restraining in any respect to ye people of God either in their joining together in church fellowship or exercising in the ordinances of God accordinge to ye pure gospel rule. Our humble petition is that all such laws, as occasion or cause any such streightnes, restraint or hinderance may be repealed, and that such christian liberty may bee allowed and confirmed, the which wee believe will tend much to ye glory of God in ye peace and settlement of his people heere. And soe shall wee pray for your peace and remaine (as in duty wee are bound) your faithful and humble petitioners."

About this time a Baptist church was forming in Newbury, which he seemed inclined to favor.

In 1681 (6 June) Jacob Rowell of Elizabeth Town, N. J., in an agreement with his brother Thomas Osgood of Andover, mentions land sold by Thomas Osgood to William Chandler. They were his nephews.

In a letter dated Nantucket Island, 25th, 8th mo., 1682, from Thomas Osborne to his friend George Little of Newbury, he writes "I & my wife entreat you, to remember our harty love to our brother Chandler & his wife, & all their children." He had married Widow Margery (Fowler) Colman.

* In 1686 (28 Sept.) Mrs. Anne White of Newbury, was licensed by Ipswich Court to keep an ordinary, having for sureties, William Chandler and Henry Lunt.

His wife Mary died in Newbury 28 Oct., 1666.

He appears to have been the trusted friend and adviser of his sister-in-law Margery, and died in Newbury 5 March, 1701-2, in the 85th year of his age. He probably disposed of his property by deeds of gift, not all of which were recorded, as his son afterwards appears to have come into possession of his homestead, which he sells. The probate records show no will or letter of administration.

The children of William and Mary (Fowler) Chandler, were:—

- 14. Mary, b. ——; m. Percival Lowell of Newbury, 7 Sept., 1664. He was b. in 1639, the son of Mr. Richard Lowell, the emigrant. As will be noticed, she received a deed of gift from her father, 20 Sept., 1664. She died in Newbury 5 Feb., 1707-8. Their children b. in Newbury were:— 1 Richard, b. 25 Dec., 1668; d. 29 May, 1749, æt. 80 yrs. 2m. 4d. 2 Gideon, b. 3 Sept., 1672 (from whom are descended John P. Townsend, an eminent merchant of New York, and Alfred Poore of Salem, author of the Poore Genealogy). 3 Samuel, b. 13 Jan., 1675-6. 4 Edmund, b. 24 Sept., 1684; m. 18 April, 1706, Abigail Hadlock.
- 15. Hester, b. in Newbury 28 Jan., 1651-2; m. when of Andover, 12 Nov., 1667, to Jonathan Cady of Rowley. She probably married again before 1680, a Mr. Willson, as the 17 May, 1680, was given in, the case of Mrs. Elizabeth Morse of Newbury, "The testimony of Esther Willson, aged about 28. That she living with her Mother, Goodwife Chandler (probably the third wife of William Chandler), when she was ill, she would often cry out and complaine that Goody Morse was a Witch," etc. Also mentions her father.
- 16. Daughter, b. in Newbury 31 July, 1653; d. 10 Aug., 1653.
- 17. Daughter, b. in Newbury 11 March, 1654-5; d. 15 April, 1655.

WILLIAM CHANDLER married for his second wife, 26 Feb., 1666-7, in Newbury, Mary, daughter of Robert Lord of Ipswich, clerk of the Probate and Register of Deeds for Essex County. She died in Newbury 3 Oct., 1676. Their children born in Newbury were:—

William, b. 2 Dec., 1667; m. 29 Nov., 1692, Hannah Huntington.

Joseph, b. 19 Nov., 1669; m. 10 Feb., 1699-1700, Mary Hall. On the 25 Sept., 1703, Joseph Chandler of Newbury, wheelwright, with Mary, his wife, sells for £95, to Henry Jaquish of Newbury, 4 acres of land in Newbury, with dwelling house, etc., on Chandler's lane, also one-third part of freehold. He must have received this in a deed of gift.

Samuel, b. 29 Feb., 1671-2; received a deed of gift of his father 23 April, 1694, of two acres of salt-marsh.

Mary, b. 18 May, 1674; m. 16 Nov., 1695, Jonathan Sampson.

WILLIAM CHANDLER, senior, married for a third wife, 16 April, 1677, in Newbury, Mary Carter, who was living in 1680, but by whom he had no children.

4 Samuel (Philip<sup>1</sup>) was born in England, according to his deposition in 1618, came to Ipswich, Mass., with his parents in the "Mary and John" in 1634.

He is styled a shipwright, and in the early practice of that trade is supposed to have visited Portsmouth, N. H., where he may have married a wife, name unknown, and had children born, perhaps William and three other children named in the will of Samuel Winsley of Salisbury, dated 17 Aug., 1665; proved 9th, 2d mo., 1667; recorded Essex Probate, Bk. 1: 299, who gives his estate to his cousin, Samuel Fowler's son Samuel, and his daughters Mary and Sarah.

In 1668 (12 Oct.), he is of Salisbury, shipwright, and buys of Robert Ring, for £10, a ten acre planting lot there.

In 1668-9 (6 March), he buys of Richard Currier of Amesbury, common right in Salisbury, formerly Lewis Hulett's. He had a suit against Philip Gale, for cutting timber on this right, 1 May, 1673, and recovered damages.

In 1669 (22 Dec.), he buys meadow land in Salisbury, of Geo. Goldwier and Martha, his wife.

In 1673 (13 May), he buys 30 acres of land in Amesbury, of Joseph Peasly of Haverhill.

He married, second, Margaret (Norman) Morgan, the widow of Robert Morgan of Beverly, after 1673, as Robert Morgan made his will 14 Oct., 1672; proved 24th, 4th mo., 1673, gives to wife Margaret, son Samuel to have 12 acres at Manchester in the great Plaine, that the testator's wife's father Norman gave him, and 8 acres at Long Hill, and this son was executor of the will. Other children were Joseph, Benjamin, Bethiah, Robert and Moses. Robert Morgan was of Salem, 1637, admitted to the church 1650, and was one of the founders of the church at Beverly in 1667.

In 1675, Samuel Fowler of Salisbury, was brought before the Court "for traveling on Sunday." He was probably a Quaker.

In 1682, he is taxed in Salisbury for "2 oxen, 3 cows, 1, 2 yearling, 1, 1 yearling, 2 horses, 1 swine, 3 sheep, 2 (acres) brok up land, 2 heads, 4 Comonages, Estate £30-05-0."

In 1684 (3 Dec.), he gives by deed of gift to his son Samuel Fowler, if he marry Ezekiel Wathen's daughter Hannah, half of lot of upland where he now dwells, about 12 acres, with 6 oxen and 2 cowes, cart, etc., which he ack. same date.

In 1690 (26 May), Samuel Fowler, senior, of Salisbury, shipwright, and Margaret, his wife, sell Samuel Weld of Amesbury, all the right they have in the estate of Robert Morgan, deceased, of Beverly, "by verture of ye marriage of ye s'd Samuel Fowler, Sen'r unto ye said Margaret his now wife, relict of ye said Robert Morgan, according to ye Test. true meaning, purpose & intent of ye last Will & Testament, of ye said Robert Morgan," etc., etc.

In 1693-4 (20 Feb.), "for & in Consideration of That Care, Trouble & Expence, which my Son Samuel flowler, Junr, of ye Towne of Salisbury, abovesd, labourer, hath already bestowed, layed Out and Expended, as also of what he must doe for ye future, in order unto ye maintenance of & attendance upon my Selfe & Margarett my now Wife, after her returne from Beverly, ye place of her present Sojourning: to my present habitation, or to such other as may be provided by or for me for her entertainment, to Settle & abide In ye Time of Our old age, & under our present want of sight & decay of other Members & Faculties, In sickness & in health, And for divers other good & lawfull Considerations, . . . have given . . . unto my son Samuel Fowler, all my estate real and personal, as a deed of gift."

Samuel Fowler, senior, died in Salisbury, January, 1710-11.

His children were:-

- William, b. ——; m. Elizabeth ——, was of Portsmouth, N. H., she administered on his estate there, 1707.
- Mary, b. ——; m. Richard Goodwin, 14th, 9th mo., 1677, of Amesbury, shipwright, when she was of Portsmouth, N. H.

- 20. Sarah, b. ----.
- 21. Samuel, b. ——; m. Hannah Worthen, 5 Dec., 1684. He died in Salisbury, 24 Dec., 1787, leaving numerous descendants, having had 6 sons and 7 daughters, all of whom married. His will dated 29 Dec., 1727; proved 2 Jan., 1737-8, is on file in Essex Probate office. His inventory amount, £687.

5 Hester (Philip<sup>1</sup>) was born in England; married first JATHNELL BIRD.

From the Town records of Ipswich, it appears that, in 1639, there was "Granted to (George) Varneham, three acres of that planting ground formerly Mr. Bradstreets, and the remainder of it to Jafnell Bird, to be laid out by the lot layers and Mark Symonds," and "6 April, 1641 Granted Jathnell Bird, a little parcel of ground lying by Goodman Mussey's, on the side of the hill, not exceeding 2 acres."

They also received land on the north side of Ipswich River, in common field on hill, from her father Philip Fowler, senior, as will hereafter appear.

She was the Widow Bird, "the last day of the last month, 1641," and entitled to commonage in Ipswich.

No children of this marriage have been found.

She married, second, previous to 1658, Robert Collins of Ipswich.

In 1654 (31 Aug.) in deed of Cornelius Waldo to John Caldwell, mention is made of boundary in Ipswich, on house and land of "Robert Collings norwest."

In 1656-7 (12 Feb.) Alexander Knight agrees to let his farm in Ipswich, for seven years from date, to Thomas Rowell and Robert Collings of same place (brothers-in-law), with the exception of 2 acres and a homelot for himself.

In 1656-7 (13 March) "Robert Colings" was assessed for a quarter spinner £22 $\frac{1}{2}$  (see p. 3).

In 1662 (16 June) he was a debtor of 5 shillings to the estate of (his brother-in-law) Thomas Rowell of Salisbury.

In 1664 had a right of commonage in Ipswich, also 13 Feb., 1678-9.

In 1669-70 (13 Jan.) the Town records of Ipswich state, that Deacon Pengry and Robert Lord, senior, were ordered "to view the highway toward reedy marsh as far as Robert Colling's lands go" and stake it out as it was formerly laid out.

In 1671 (22 Dec.) he was granted "leave to fell trees for an end to his barne, 16 foote long & a leantoo to it."

In 1671-2 (18 March) from the court files it appears, that there was a controversy between ROBERT COLLINS and Deacon William Goodhue, in regard to a colt taken up by Amos Stickney at Newbury, which they both claimed, and 26 March, 1672, Joseph Fowler testifies about his "uncels Collinges hors."

In 1675 (20 Nov.) he prized a "calfe of John Caldwell" taken up as a stray.

In 1677 (10 Sept.) ROBERT COLLINS of Ipswich and "EASTOR" his wife, sell land there to Philip Fowler, jr. (their nephew), which was ack. by them, 9 July, 1678.

In 1678 (8 July) he sells Caleb Kimball, land in Ipswich, and one of the witnesses was Philip Fowler, his nephew.

In 1678-9 (16 Jan.) ROBERT COLLINS and Shoreborne Wilson (his nephew by marriage with Abigail Osgood), were complained of by the town for entertaining Ezra Rolfe. This was to prevent his gaining a residence. He was probably the son-in-law of ROBERT COLLINS. Savage also infers that he had son-in-law Daniel Rolfe who was killed in 1672, in King Philip's war, which is correct.

In 1679 (18 June), with wife Hester, sells Simon Stace for 40 shillings, 40 rods of land on the north side of Ipswich River, in common field on hill, bounded with "land of John Kimball towards the Nor West, and land of Philip Fowler, Senior, towards the North East (being part of a lott that was formerly Phillip Fowler, sen'r, which he gave to his daughter Hester, in the time of her husband Bird, and hath beene long time parted by a stone wall, from the other land of the aforesayd Phillip." Ack. 18 June, 1679.

In 1679 (25 Nov.) he mortgages to John Williams of Haverhill "my now dwelling house in Ipswich, in the high street, bounded on North by Philip Fowler." Mortgage discharged 29 Jan., 1679-80. This estate he sells 26 Jan., 1679-80 when of "Haverill, County of Norfolk," to Abraham Perkins of Ipswich,  $3\frac{3}{4}$  acres of land and dwelling house in Ipswich, which he ack. 30 Jan., 1679-80, and was sold by Abraham Perkins to Robert Lord, senior, in 1683.

In 1682 (24 June) when of Haverhill, yeoman, with wife HESTER, sells Joseph Belknapp of Boston, glover, for £17, all their land, 15 acres in Haverhill.

ROBERT COLLINS died in Haverhill 17 June, 1688.

The children of Robert and Hester (Fowler) Collins, born in Ipswich, as recorded on Court records, were:—

- 22. Philip, b. ; probably the eldest child; d. 7 April, 1659.
- 23. Hester, b. 18 April, 1658; d. 19 Jan., 1662-3.
- 24. Robert, b. 15 March, 1659-60.
- 25. Nathaniel, b. 18 June, 1662.
- 26. Elizabeth, b. 16 Jan., 1664-5.
- Martha, b.——; perhaps a daughter; m. Philip Flanders 4 Nov., 1686, in Salisbury.

6 Joseph ( $Philip^1$ ) was born in England, probably about 1629, came with his parents in the ship "Mary and John," in 1634, to Ipswich, Mass.; married there Martha Kimball, who came over from Ipswich, England, in 1634, in the ship "Elizabeth," with her parents, when she is called five years of age. Her father, Richard Kimball, settled in Ipswich, Mass., and was the ancestor of nearly all of those now living of the name of Kimball. Her mother, Ursula (Scott) Kimball, his wife, was the daughter of the widow Martha Scott, who came in the same ship with him, then aged sixty years. She was perhaps the widow of Hon. John Scott, of Scott's Hall, County of Kent, England, and daughter of Sir George Wortup.

In 1647, he worked with his father, Philip Fowler, for two days, at the watch house in Ipswich, for which he received three shillings of the town.

In 1649 (7th mo.) in Essex Court records is the following: "We present Joseph Fowler, Thomas Cooke, Thomas Scott, and two of ye sons of Richard Kimball, for goeing into ye woods, shouting and singing, taking fire and liquors with them, all being at unseasonable time in ye night, ocasioning yr. wives and some other to go out to them."

"JOSEPH FOWLER, Thomas Scott, John Kemball and Thomas

Kemball for their presentment, had a legal admonition." These young men probably met to celebrate the twenty-first birthday of Thomas Scott, who was Joseph Fowler's cousin, and the son of Thomas, a merchant, who came in the "Elizabeth," 1634, from Ipswich, England, to Ipswich, New England, and afterwards married Margaret, the sister of Rev. William Hubbard, the historian of the Indian wars, and had one child, Thomas, who was killed by the Indians at Squakeheage, His widow married second, Ezekiel Rogers, 8 Sept., 1675. H. C., 1659, nephew of the Rev. Ezekiel, of Rowley, who disinherited him, as he persisted in wearing his hair long, contrary to his wish. The Kimballs were brothers-in-law to Joseph FOWLER, and cousins to Scott. John, then aged 18, married, and died in Ipswich, leaving numerous descendants. Thomas was then aged 16, he married, and settled in Bradford, where he was slain by the Indians, 3 May, 1676, leaving a son Richard, a captain in active service against the Indians in 1724. (See Kimball's letter in Mass. Archives, Vol. 52, p. 45.)

In 1650 (10th, 10th mo.) he gave in his testimony in case of Joseph Fowler, plaintiff, vs. Simonds, defendant.

In 1650 is found the following deed:-

"Know all men by these presents, that I, Joseph Fowler of Ipswich, in the county of Essex, in New England, husbandman, doe sell unto Richard Kemball, sen'r of ye same towne, wheelwright, my father-in-law, such land & cattell as followeth, viz.:—one cow & one yearling, 40 acres of ground joyning to Richard Jacob, on ye one side, & Thomas Byshop & Jobe Byshop, on the other, 34 acres of it I enjoyne myselfe to fence in, of upland & meadow, which the said Richard is to have of the said Joseph, for such goods as I have received of him for satisfaction thereof. In wittnesse whereof, I have hereunto sett my hand, the 12th of January, 1650.

Witnesses.

JOSEPH FOWLER.

WILLIAM CHAUNDLER (his brother-in-law) & witnes JOHN KIMBALL (his wife's brother) & WILLIAM SMITH.

This writing & deed was acknowledged 21: 11th mo: 1651, before me. Samuel Symonds."

In 1651 "Phillip Fowler the elder, of Ipswich, did come before me, and in the presence of Joseph his sonne & Martha his wife, & with their full & free consent, did adopt as his sonne Phillip, the sonne of the s'd Joseph & Martha, to be as his sonne. Samuel Symonds."

There is no date to the above paper, but it is recorded between papers dated 18 day of 6th month, 1651, and Feb., 1651. It is probable that after this period he resided with his father-in-law, Richard Kimball.

In 1651 (25th, 1st mo.) when at Goodman Cross' house, gave in his testimony in case of Bradstreet & Muzzy, at Ipswich Court.

In 1651 (3d, 4th mo.) John Broadstreet, Joseph Fowler, Thomas Scott and Richard Betts, were presented to court and discharged.

In 1653 "Richard Kemball, sen'r, & Joseph Fowler, both of Ipswich, wheelwright & husbandman, in the county of Essex, in New England, do bind ourselves, heirs & executors, to Humphry Bradstreete of Rowley, in the same county, in the full & just sume of fifty pounds, for to secure the said Humphrey, his heires, executors & administrators, from all charges & incumbrances touching the horse that the s'd Humphry Bradstreete, hath sould me, and recovered from Zacheus Gould, in December, 1649, witness our hand. Richard Kimball (the marke of). Joseph Fowler. Signed, sealed & del'd in the presence of these, 3 of the 01 month, dat. 1653, witnes Martha Willoms. John Bradstreete."

In 1658-9 (14 March) he witnessed an agreement of George Norton and Roger Preston.

In 1660 (27 Nov.) he witnessed the will of Robert Garrett of Boston, and he deposed in regard to it, 1 Aug., 1668.

In 1669-70 (7 March) he witnessed a receipt of Andrew Peeters and John Browne, to Goodman Caldwell, for rent of land.

JOSEPH FOWLER was killed by the Indians, near Deerfield, 19 May, 1676, on his return from the Falls fight.

The children of Joseph and Martha (Kimeall) Fowler, were:—

- 28. Joseph, b. about 1647; m. Elizabeth Hutton.
- 29. Philip, b. 25 Dec., 1648; m. Elizabeth Herrick.
- 30. John, b. ---; m. Sarah ----; Hannah Scott.
- 31. Mary, b. ——; m. John Briers 20 Jan., 1673-4.

7 Thomas (Philip<sup>1</sup>) was born in Ipswich, according to his deposition, in 1636; married there Hannah Jordan, 23 April, 1660, who was born in Ipswich 14 March, 1638–9, the daughter of Francis and Jane (Wilson) Jordan of Ipswich, 1634, and died in Amesbury 15 June, 1716.

In 1659-60 (1 March) he was granted permission to plant two acres in Ipswich, on the north side of Jeffries Neck.

THOMAS FOWLER is said to have been a relative of the master of Ann Sawyer, who also deposes 16 April, 1659, that she had heard THOMAS FOWLER say that he was a countryman of Anthony Morse. The latter was from Marlborough, Wiltshire, England, and one of the writer's ancestors.

In 1662 (2d, 2d mo.) he gives in a deposition at court in which he states his age as about 26 years.

In 1662 (10 April) he is of Salisbury, and buys land there of Edward Cottle.

In 1663 (17 April) styled husbandman, and buys of Richard Currier, 20 acres of upland near the Merrimack river.

In 1667 (22 Nov.) buys of Joseph Peasly of Haverhill, his right of comonage in Salisbury.

In 1669-70 (18 Feb.) when of Amesbury, with wife Hannan, sells 6 acres of land there, with dwelling house, etc., to James Freeze.

In 1670 (18th, 2d mo.) when of Salisbury, cancels a mortgage he gave 12 Sept., 1667, to Richard Cutt of Portsmouth, for £12-14-0, on his dwelling house and house lot adjoining, in Salisbury, between the lots of Edward Cottle and George Carre, senior, butting with one end on Merrimack river, six acres in all.

In 1677 (21st, 10th mo.) of Amesbury, planter, buys marsh land of John Dickison.

In 1677 (20 Dec.) he took the oath of allegiance and fidelity at Amesbury.

In 1679-80 (8 March) he buys land in Amesbury, at the "Peeke," of William Osgood, senior, of Salisbury, also 12 Oct., 1685, of James George, senior, swamp and meadow there.

In 1685 he is one of a committee to lay out a highway appointed by "Almsbury and Haverhill."

In 1689 (10 Dec.) widow Jane Jordan of Ipswich, in her will, mentions her daughter Hannah Fowler.

In 1690 (1 Sept.) he witnessed the will of John Gill of Salisbury.

In 1690 (24 Dec.) he was made Freeman.

In 1691 (13 April) when of Amesbury, husbandman, with wife Hannah, sells Capt. Stephen Greenleaf of Newbury, 120 acres of land in Amesbury, formerly purchased of William Sargeant of Amesbury, now deceased.

In 1691 (13 April) he buys of "John Dole of Newbury, Chryrurgeon, . . . a Twenty acre Lott of Upland belonging to ye right of Thomas Dummer, according to grant made of ye same unto Said Thomas Dummer, to butt upon ye north side of Merrimack River, by ye west of ye powow River, as may more particularly appear by ye Towne booke of records for Salisbury" etc.

He was chosen Moderator for Town meetings in Amesbury 1690, 1691, 1692, 1693, 1697, 1698, 1701, 1704, 1705, 1706, 1707. Assessor, 1694. To serve on Grand Jury at Court of Pleas, Ipswich, 1691, 1694. Representative for Amesbury to attend the General Court, 1695, 1700, 1705, 1707, 1710. Tithingman, 1713.

In 1721 (19 Aug.) he gives by deed of gift, to his son Jeremiah Fowler of Amesbury, husbandman, for a comfortable maintenance, his homestead in Amesbury, salt meadow in Salisbury, etc., which he ack. 5 March, 1721-2.

Mr. Thomas Fowler died in Amesbury, 3 October, 1727, leaving the following will:—

"In the Name of God. Amen. the Twentieth first Day of January, one thousend seven hundered and twenty and five six, I, Thomas frowller of Almsbury, in the County of Essex, within His Maiesties Province of the Massechusets Bay, in New England, Husbandman, being well stricken in yers but of perfect mind and memory Thanks be Given unto God: Therefore calling unto mind the mortality of my Body, and knowing that it is appointed for all men once to Dye, do make and ordain this my last Will and Testament, that is to say principally and first of all, I Give & Recommend my sole into the Hands of God that Gave it, and my Body I recommend to the Earth to be buried in decent Christian Burial at the Discretion of Executors, nothing doubting but at the Generl Resurrection I shall receive the same again by the mighty power of God: And as touching such Worldly Estate wherewith it hath pleased God to Bless me in this Life, that I have not disposed of, I give demise and dispose of the same in the following manner and form. ## THIRD GENERATION.

28 Joseph (Joseph<sup>6</sup> Philip<sup>1</sup>) was born in Ipswich, about 1647; married (date not found) ELIZABETH HUTTON, the daughter of Richard and Elizabeth Hutton of Wenham.

In his youth, he probably resided with his grandfather Richard Kimball. His uncle Richard Kimball, jr., having settled in Wenham, as early as 1656, he appears to have followed him to that place, where he married, and continued to reside during his lifetime. He was a brickmaker by trade.

In 1672 (26 March) Joseph Fowler gives his testimony in Court, in regard to "his uncels Collinges, hors," in the controversy between Robert Collins and Deacon William Goodhne, 18 March, 1671-2, in regard to a colt taken up by Amos Stickney, at Newbury, which they both claimed.

In 1672 (1 May) he testified to hearing, when in his grandfather Kimball's barn, the quarrel between Quartermaster John Perkins, Obadiah Bridges and Andrew Peters, all of Ipswich, "in the new chamber which was commonly call the Kings armes." Also 28th, 4th mo. 1672 he "Doth testify, that be-" ing sent for to watch with Peter Comew, one Night when he was very week, & the same night It pleased God to take him out of this world, I, the Abovesaid Joseph Fowler, seeing him in this weke condision, I desired to know of him how it was with him, & how he had ordered to be had, he answered that he was very week but only for his outward estate, he had Given it to Jacob Pudeator & his" etc., etc.

In 1673 (30th, 7th mo.) complaint is made against Joseph and Philip Fowler, for assault and battery, in quarrel between Thomas Blanchard and Joseph Fowler, and "Thomas Lull saith, that after the fray was over, he saw Phillip Fowler comeing with hatts in his hand, & askt his brother Joseph, which was his, & he sd, takeing one of them & saying this is myne, then Phillip bid him be gon, he answered let me alone, I will be gone, or words to that effect, then Phillip sd to me, whatever you have heard or seen, say nothing." Joseph Fowler was fined £3-10-0 "for whipping Thomas Blanchard," and Phillip Fowler fined 40 shillings.

In 1679 (26th, 4th mo.) he had a debt of 2 shillings against the estate of Edward Waldern of Wenham.

In 1681 (11th, 3d mo.) he is of Wenham and petitions with others to General Court.

In 1682 (25 Sept.) he witnessed deed of Harlackendine Symonds of Ipswich, to Daniel Epps of Salem.

In 1685-6 (10 Feb.) gave in his deposition in case of Potter vs. Lummus.

In 1692 he, with Thomas and Sarah Jacob, gave in his deposition, in regard to the bad character of one Goody Bibber, who was an accuser during the witchcraft delusion. The Hon. Charles W. Upham, in his valuable work on Salem Witchcraft, writes of him, "Joseph Fowler lived in Wenham, and was a person of respectability and influence, and had the courage, in the most fearful hour of the delusion, to give open testimony in the defense of its victims."

In 1693-4 (17 Jan.) he buys land of John Newman and wife Ruth, as administrator of the estate of Antipas Newman, deceased, and attorney to Mrs. Elizabeth Endicote, ye widow of said Antipas Newman.

In 1695 (26 March) with wife ELIZABETH, sells land to Joseph Gerrish, and 5 April, with Zacheus Goldsmith, mortgages land to Thomas Clarke of Boston, which mortgage was discharged 17 Feb., 1696-7. The 18 July, he sells Nathaniel Browne of Ipswich, his dwelling house and barn, and two acres of land, 4½ acres of upland, 2 acres of meadow, all in Wenham, also 11 acres and 46 poles of land in Ipswich, the homestead.

In 1696 (10 April) he buys land of Ezekiel Woodward and Sarah his wife.

In 1696-7 (27 Jan.) he is styled husbandman, and with wife Elizabeth, sells Robert Symonds an acre of land; also 15 March 1701-2, when styled senior, upland and meadow.

In 1697-8 (11 March) he witnesses a deed of Jacob Rowell of Ipswich, to Major John March of Newbury.

In 1698 (5 April) when yeoman, sells John Edwards, land in "Batcheldors pasture."

In 1699 (28 March) he was plaintiff, in case against Philemon Warner, defendant, for debt. The case was decided for plaintiff, 26 Dec., 1699, and bill was paid 5 Jan., 1699–1700.

In 1707 (1 Oct.) he sells Benjamin Edwards and Daniel Macklaffin, 19 acres of upland, and 17 Dec., he gives a deed of gift, of one third of his farm, to his son Richard Fowler, on his marriage with Merriam Balch, the daughter of Freeborne Balch of Beverly. One of the witnesses was (his son) Joseph Fowler, and he acknowledged the deed 18 Dec., 1707.

In 1709 (5 April) he is styled brickmaker, and sells Samuel Kimball, jr., 6 acres of upland and swamp.

In 1714 (22 April) he was appointed administrator, of the estate of his father-in-law, Richard Hutton of Wenham; Joseph Fowler, in right of Elizabeth Hutton, written at the bottom of the bond. The 22 June, he is styled husbandman, and sells for £3, to William Dodge, two common rights.

He died intestate, in Wenham, 10 Feb., 1717–18, and administration on his estate was granted to his son, Joseph Fowler, and son-in-law Samuel Kimball, jointly 13 March, 1717–18.

Inv. of his estate, on file in Essex Registry of Probate, was taken 18 March, 1717-18, amt. £571-7-6. Among the items, "a dwelling house, and Barne, and orchard, about 40 acres of Land, and a Common Right In the Swampe, £330." "To Twenty acres of Land Given to Richard flowler, and not sett out to him, £135." cattle and household utensils. The estate was divided into four shares, 24 March 1718-19, the eldest son to have two; "Relict of Richard," one; Samuel Kimball in right of his wife, one. "Whereas, Joseph, & the heirs of Richard have Deeds of Gift, of certain parcels of land, you are to value the s'd Parcells, & Sett of what is owing to them, that have theire Deeds, lay'd convenient to ye other Land."

In the division, there was laid out 13 May, 1718, "To the heirs of Richard Fowler, late deceased, 20 acres, lying next to Joseph Dodge's land, according to deed, bounding northerly upon said Dodge's land, and easterly upon the land belonging to the heirs of said Richard, till it comes over the Brook, 41 pole, to an arsh stub, marked, then turning southwesterly, or westerly, to an arsh tree marked by John Kimballs land, 21 pole, Southerly of Capt. Thomas Fiske's land, and so upon s'd Kimball's land, till it comes to Fiske's, then turning easterly through a swamp, till it comes to a great Buttonwood tree, and further, there is by mr. Joseph Fowlers deed, from the heirs of Mr Smiths', 7 acres of land, that is bounding upon the highway, 3 acres of it, in possession of the heirs of s'd Richard Fowler, which added to the 20, makes 23 acres to the heirs of s'd Richard Fowler, valued at £6-15-0, 1/3 of upland, swamp and meadow, 25 acres in all, at the Broad meadow."

"To Samuell Kemball, in the right of his wife,  $2\frac{1}{2}$  acres of meadow & 5 poles, the remainder of the Broad meadow, bounding upon Zacheus Goldsmith's meadow, on southwest, as River goeth, to Thomas White's land, on easterly side of meadow, to bounds laid out to heirs of Richard Fowler; also  $8\frac{3}{4}$  acres of upland bounding southerly on Freeborne Balch's, westerly on John Edwards, and John Kemball, to an elm stump," etc. He is also to have  $\frac{1}{4}$  of the buildings and orchards, common lot in Great Swamp.

The Remainder of Land, meadow, buildings and Common Right, is to Joseph Fowler, 2 shares, about 34 acres of land and meadow.

Widow Elizabeth Fowler, died in Wenham, 22 May, 1734, aged 84 years, recorded on Church records.

The children of Joseph and Elizabeth (Hutton) Fowler, were:—

- 40. Elizabeth, b. in 1678; m. Samnel Kimball, jr.
- 41. Joseph, b. 15th, 1st mo., 1679; m. Susannah Dennis.
- 42. Richard, b. ---; m. Miriam Balch.

29 Philip (Joseph<sup>6</sup> Philip<sup>1</sup>) was born in Ipswich, 25 Dec., 1648, named for his grandfather Philip Fowler, and adopted by him with the full consent of his parents, in 1651, "as his sonne." He was favored with the instruction of the famous Ezekiel Cheever, who then kept the grammar school of Ipswich, founded by its munificent citizens, in 1650, and taught by him until 1660, and either from him, or his successor, obtained a superior education.

In 1668 (3 Nov.) he is appointed by his grandfather, "as his true and lawful atturney," in his suit against "Philip Bill of Jubaque," when he serves and signs as "Phillip Fowler, Marshal deputy" (see p. 7). The case was gained, 24th, 9th mo., 1668.

In 1668 (23 Dec.) he received a deed of gift from his grand-father, "in consideration of naturall affection, . . . as also in consideration of his being with me, and doeing my business for me, as formerly, . . . all that my now dwelling house and lands I stand now possesst off, after my decease (excepting what by agreement with my wife upon marriage . . . )," with some other provisions in case of death, etc. "if my Grandchild Phillip, leave a wife behind him when he dye, then she shall enioy it, dureing her naturall life" etc.

In 1670 (19th, 2d mo.) he gives in his deposition as aged 21 years, or thereabouts, in the case of Samuel Hunt and wife vs. Sarah Roper.

In 1671-2 (12 March) he is chosen fenceviewer, by the town of Ipswich, also 1674, 1678 "from the comon gate to Egypt river," 1680.

In 1672-3 (20 Jan.) he married, in Beverly, ELIZABETH HERRICK, who was baptized in Salem, 4 July, 1647, the daughter of Henry and Editha (Laskin) Herrick. It is supposed in the Herrick Genealogy, that Henry Herrick was born at Beau Manor, in 1604, came from Leicester, England, to Salem, New England, 24 June, 1629, and was the son of Sir William Herrick.

In 1673-4 (8 March) he took the covenant of the Church, in Ipswich.

In 1674-5 (11 March) "PHILLIP FOWLER hath a bay mare with a white blaze downe her face, 2 white feet behinde, noe eare marke or brand mark that is seen, taken up as a stray, the first of January, 1674, aboute 8 yeares old, prised at 15s. by Nathaniell Treadwell & Daniell Roffe."

In 1676 (18 May) the estate of Thomas Kimball owed him 1s. 6d., payable in wheat.

In 1676 (2 Nov.) he sells for £14 to Shoreborne Wilson, fresh meadow in West meadows, 6 acres. This original deed is on file, in Essex Clerk of Courts.

In 1677 (27 March) in the division of the estate of Benjamin Herrick, his sister Elizabeth the wife of Philip Fowler, received her share with her brothers, Thomas, Zechariah, Ephraim, Henry, Joseph and John. Their mother to have the income of the estate during her life.

In 1677 (20 Nov.) he is "of Ipswich, husbandman, for & in consideration of six accors of meado in the west medos, as by a deed by asignement under his hand, have bargained . . . unto Edward Neland of the same town, . . . six accors of meado in the west meadows, which was granted to my Grandfather Philip flowler, . . . in Ipswich, . . . bounded by the land of John Kimball on the northwest, by Samuell bishop & the comon on the southwest, by the lands the s'd Edward Neeland & James fuller, on the northeast, on the south by the lands of Philip Fowler, . . . 20th November, 1677." Signed by him with a red seal, which color he seems to have used, while his grandfather had a green one.

In 1677 (29 Dec.) he was attorney to Henry Gould, adm'r to estate of Abraham More, dec'd, and sold "land in Ipswich, at the end of brooke street," to Francis Young.

In 1677 Dec. and Jan. he took the Oath of Allegiance, and was also chosen by the town 19 Feb., 1677-8, as Surveyor.

In 1677 (10 Sept.) he buys land of Robert Collins and "Eastor" his wife (his uncle and aunt).

In 1678-9 (15 Jan.) he buys of Mary, widow of the late John Wooddam, dec'd, five acres of "marsh behind the Towne hill, in the north common field, in Ipswich."

In 1678-9 (12 Feb.) he sells John Annable, "my lot of marsh which was my Grandfathers Phillip ffowler, his division of Plumb Island, in the s'd Ipswich, wch sayd lott, is three acres be it more or less, which s'd lott doth adioyne next unto Deacon Knowlton, his marsh towards the Norwest, and next to Edward Chapman, his devission lott of Plumb Island towards the southeast, and next unto the sea toward the northeast, and next unto a creeke toward ye southwest." "Phillip frowler acknowledged the within written to be his act & deed, and Elizabeth his wife did freely surrender her right & interest of Dowry, in the lands herin conveyed, before me, Daniell Denison, May 10, 1680."

In 1678-9 (13 Feb.) he is on the list of those persons who have the "right of comonage," in Ipswich.

In 1679 (29 Sept.) he was granted administration, on what was left of his grandfather Philip Fowler's estate, he having disposed of most of it, during his lifetime.

In 1679 (24 Nov.) he with all his company, was to do work on the highway, two days, for the year 1678.

In 1679 (2 Dec.) he was on a committee, to see that only commoners cut the wood and timber.

In 1679 (2 Dec.) on the list of voters, of Ipswich.

In 1679-80 (5 Jan.) he is of Ipswich, clothworker, and buys of John Gammis, "land in common field on North syde the river."

In 1680 (17 June) "Those surveyors on the north side of the river, to take their proportion for mending the highways, as in 1678. John Jewet, in the roome of Philip Fowler."

In 1680 (4 Sept.) sells Thomas Smith, three acres of salt marsh.

In 1680 (18 Nov.) the town granted him two pine trees.

In 1680-1 (29 Jan.) he buys of Joshua Windsor of Boston, and Sarah his wife, in her right, ten acres of land near his own, in Ipswich "in the great comon field formerly lands of Goodman Knight's."

In 1681 (26 Sept.) he sells John Kimball two acres of meadow.

In 1682-3 (3 Jan.) he buys of John Perkins, senior, Quartermaster, three-fourths of an acre of land in great common field, on the north of Ipswich river.

In 1682-3 (27 Feb.) "The testimony of Phillip frowler, aged about thirty five years old, testifieth, that about twenty years since, I was present at my Grandfathers, when & at that place Goodman Pritchett, were to pay John Godfry, about fifty nyne pounds, for a prsell of land, that Godfry, had morgagd to him the s'd Godfry, by ffrancis Ursellton (?), and I were present when the s'd Goodman Pritchet, at his say, that his bond oblidged to pay in the whole summ, and I took account of the whole summ, and Mr. John Paine, and to my knowledge, I measured out the corne, to the s'd Godfry againe, and his order. I, Robert Lord, marshall, doe testifie to all above written, only to the delivery of the corne back againe. Sworne February 27, 1682, before me Samuell Appleton, Assistant."

In 1683 he was made "attorney," by Marshal Robert Lord, in the case of Samuel Bishop against said Lord, he calling him his well beloved friend.

In 1683 (3 Sept.) he was attorney to Stephen Crose, plaintiff, against John Lee, defendant, case was found for the plaintiff.

In 1683 (25 March) with John Kimball, took an inventory of the estate of Thomas Scott, late of Ipswich, amount £278, which was allowed 15 April, 1684, and at the same time, when about 36 years of age, with John Kimball, about 53 years of age, deposes "that Mary the wife of Thomas Patch, and Abigail Bosworth, and Elizabeth Spafford, are all of them the reputed daughters of Thomas Scott, Senor, of Ipswich, deceased, and sisters to Thomas Scott, Junor, deceased, of Ipswich."

In 1683 (23 Nov.) he was one of the witnesses to the will of John Carr, of Salisbury.

In 1683-4 (8 Jan.) he was on the committee about cutting the timber.

In 1684 (4 Dec.) he witnessed the deed of Thomas Verry, senior, of Gloucester, to Thomas Prince, of same place.

In 1685, 1686, 1687, he was chosen constable.

In 1685 (29 Sept.) he was in account with the estate of John Watson of Bradford.

In 1686 (9 April) he buys land of Andrew Petters; 28 Sept., Abraham Perkins was licensed by Ipswich Court, sureties, Philip Fowler and Daniel Ringe; 22 Nov., he received from the town "for mending ye meeting house glass & buring place 15s."

In 1686-7 (3 March) "for serving warrants, and for two days work, he got done for Rachells house 9s."

In 1687 (25 June) he issued a writ against John Gould of Topsfield, for debt. This paper is in the possession of the writer, and contains the first impression of the seal used by the Essex County Commissioners.

In 1688 (23 June) witnessed the will of Thomas Clark, senior, of Ipswich.

In 1688-9 (13 March) witnessed a mortgage deed of John Gould to John Wainwright.

Previous to 1689 he sold land to John Day.

In 1690 (7 April) he witnessed acquittance of Isaac Cooke of Salem, to John Bullock, of same place.

In 1690 (24 June) gives in his deposition as aged 40 years or thereabouts, in the case of Berry vs. Newmarch.

In 1690 (18 Aug.) he was an appraiser of the estate of Thomas Stacy of Salem.

In 1691 was administrator of the estate of his neighbor Job Bishop, and 13 March, 1693-4, as such, sells his house and land in Ipswich, for £56, to Richard Gross. He was discharged from the trust 3 April, 1694.

In 1691 (14 April) he was an appraiser of the estate of Moses Peirce.

In 1691 (30 April) was one of a committee to settle common lands on Thomas Hart.

In 1691-2 (29 Jan.) the town was debtor to him for settling the bounds of Plum Island.

In 1691-1697 inclusive, and 1704, he was on the committee to look after encroachments on the north side of the river.

In 1692 (2 Aug.) he was a witness to the will of John Proctor, senior, of Salem, who was executed for witchcraft on Gallows Hill, in Salem, 19 Aug., 1692. He and his brother Joseph strongly opposed the witchcraft delusion. Mr. Upham, in his "Salem Witchcraft," also says of Philip Fowler that he "was a leading man, was employed as attorney by the Village Parish in its lawsuit with Mr. Parris, that in 1692 he conducted the proceedings in Court against the head and front of the witchcraft prosecution," and thus notices one of his descendants:—"Samuel Page Fowler [449] distinguished as an explorer of our early annals and local antiquities. It is an interesting circumstance that in his reprint of the papers of Calef, and in other publications, he has done as much as any other person of our day to bring that whole transaction under the light of truth and justice."

In 1692 (6 Dec.) Francis Wainwright was appointed administrator of the estate of Benjamin Goodridge, senior, of Newbury, with Tristram Coffin and Philip Fowler, sureties, bond £80. The following deposition is with the bond, on file, in the Essex Probate office. "I, Phillip Fowler of Ipswich, Doe Testyfie, yt it is ye desire of ye near Relation of Benjamin Goodridge, Late deceased yt any one of ye Executors (John or Francis Wainwright), unto ye Last Will of Mr. Francis Wainwright's estate, &c. late deceased, be Administor unto ye above sd Goodridge's Estate, and yt yr are not willing themselves to accept of Administration, and That yr so expressed themselves unto mee." Dated Salem, Dec., 6, 1692.

Benjamin Goodridge's wife Deborah, and Hannah, the wife of Thomas Fowler, were sisters, and the daughters of Francis and Jane (Wilson) Jordan of Ipswich, which made Benjamin Goodridge, the uncle by marriage, of this Philip Fowler. Gage states, in his History of Rowley, that "Oct., 23, 1692. In that part of Rowley, which is now in Byfield parish, in Georgetown, a Mr. Goodrich, and wife, and two daughters, were killed by the Indians," and gives an engraving which he says "is an exact representation of the house in which Mr. Goodrich was shot, as it now (1840) appears." "The house is now owned by : Cutain Gorham P. Tenney and was late the residence of Mr. Dudley Lull, deceased, father of said Tenney's wife." When it was taken down in Oct., 1875, the following appeared in the Boston Traveller: - "The old 'Lull house' at Byfield, where during King Philip's War the Indians shot Mr. Goodrich, his wife, and two daughters, has been demolished."

But from the following records in Essex Registry of Deeds in Bk. 9: 43 & 144, it appears that the house of Benjamin Goodridge was burnt previous to that time.

"Benjamin Guteredge, in ye countye of Essex," planter, with wife Sarah (his third wife, according to Savage) sold to Stephen Greenleaf, senior, of Newbury, about 14 acres in the "fourth Division of Rate lotts," in Newbury, 15 June, 1687. Not ack., but at a Court 29 March, 1692, several persons gave oath, they saw him sign the deed and give possession.

"Benjamin Gutridge," late of Rowley, bought of Jonathan Wheeler of Rowley, yeoman, "a tract of upland & meadow granted to me (Wheeler), by the town of Rowley, but through mistake recorded in the Towne book to the said Gutridge, & gave the said Gutridge, a deed of the same, which is supposed to be burnt with his house," and Wheeler warrants the heirs selling it Francis Wainwright, 24 August, 1693, Witnesses George Herrick. Philip Fowler.

In 1692–3 (28 Feb.) he was an appraiser of the estate of Capt. Daniel Epps of Ipswich.

In 1693 he was surety with Capt. Giles Cowes (husband of Agnes), on the bond of Agnes Cowes, when she takes administration on the estate of her father, Thomas Berry.

In 1693 (July) in his communication to General Court, he mentions, that he, with others, had helped to draw the line between the towns of Ipswich and Topsfield, in 1684. There was trouble between the towns in regard to paying taxes, and in 1694 he was chosen by Ipswich, to plead their cause.

In 1693 (26 Sept.) license granted William Shaw, as principal, and Philip Fowler as surety.

In 1694 (27 March) as attorney for William Hascoll, against Nathaniel Coyt, executor of the will of Henry Walker, late of Gloucester, deceased, the case was found for the plaintiff. Same for Edward Bragg.

In 1694 (29 Sept.) Mr. Richard Dole of Newbury, and Philip Fowler of Ipswich, attorney to Mr. John Dole of Newbury, quit-claimed to Major General Waitstill Winthrop, land purchased of John Paine, deceased.

In 1694-5 (22 March) he buys of William Rogers of Wenham, land in Ipswich.

In 1695 (9 April) he buys of Bonest Norton, for £12, land in Ipswich, bounding on his own land. It was ack. same date by Bonest Norton, and Mary his wife, and Mrs. Lucy Norton, relict of Mr. William Norton, late of Ipswich, deceased.

In 1695 (22 April) as attorney to Freeman Clarke, for 46s.

quit-claimed to John Clarke for his share of his father Sergeant Thomas Clarke's house, etc.

Freeman Clarke of Ipswich, "being Bound to the barbadoes," makes his will 26 Dec., 1692, and appoints his "friend Philip Fowler Sole Executor." The will was proved 17 May, 1697, but he refused to act as executor, and 12 July, 1697, was appointed administrator.

In 1695 (9 July) he appraised the estate of George Herrick (probably his relative), Marshal and Deputy Sheriff, of Essex County, and 17 Sept., 1695, Martha Herrick the adm'x, made oath to the truth of the inventory.

In 1696 (14 May) he buys of Samuel Corning, and Hannah his wife, all their right in their uncle Henry Batchelder's farm; and 19 May, buys land of the admr's of the above estate, viz.:— Nathaniel Treadwell and John Warner. In 1702 (15 Dec.) he buys of the heirs, 9 acres of land and meadow.

In 1697 he entered a horse to go on the common.

In 1697-8 (11 March) he witnessed the deed of Jacob Rowell, to Major John March of Newbury.

In 1698 (29 March) he was surety for Francis Lowd, afterwards his attorney, also attorney to John Lane, 28 March, 1699.

In 1699 he subscribed 18s. towards the bell for new meeting house.

In 1700-1 (16 Jan.) in seating people in the meeting house, "Granted to Mr. Philip Fowler, the 3d pew on the north side the pulpit, for their children & John Tredwell's wife, who is confined thereunto, otherwise one of the heade of the family, a passage granted thro' said pew to Mr. Whipple pew." Of the long seats below stairs, he was to have the third.

In 1703-4 (2 March) with six others, he purchased the old meeting house for £20, and to remove it in nine months, the money to go towards building the galleries, in the new meeting house.

In 1703 (14 April) he buys land in Ipswich, of John Knowlton of Manchester, and Joseph Batchelor of Salem.

In 1703 (21 Jan.) he witnessed a bond of Joseph Herrick as principal and Joseph Herrick, jr., and William Dodge, as sureties to pay a legacy of Henry Herrick, senior, late of Beverly, deceased.

In 1704 (5 April) Philip Fowler of Ipswich, and Mr. Ezekiel Northend of Rowley, as attorneys to Mr. Thomas Brattle of Boston, Treasurer to and for Harvard College, in Cambridge, Philip Fowler in behalf of Mr. Brattle, and Ezekiel Northend, in his own behalf, enter into an agreement to divide land in Rowley in warehouse pasture, which belonged to Mr. Ezekiel Rogers of Rowley, deceased, and Mr. Ezekiel Northend, of said town, deceased, bounded by lands formerly John Grant's, etc.

In 1704 (7 Sept.) Daniel Rindge, Matthew Perkins, Philip Fowler, Thomas Manning, Andrew Burley, James Fuller, as committee for the town of Ipswich, sell land there to Thomas Safford.

In 1705 (23 Dec.) with others of a committee of Ipswich, sell to Robert Annable, also 3 Jan., 1705-6, to John Howlett.

In 1707 he was entitled to the right of commonage in Ipswich, being in possession of a dwelling house.

In 1707 (29 April) he was appointed administrator of the estate of Thomas Smith, jr., of Ipswich, blacksmith, deceased, intestate, by request of his natural mother Wood alias Smith. His only surviving brother was Richard Smith, jr., son of Richard, a minor, upwards of 14 years of age, 29 April, 1706, when he chose for his guardian, Mr. Philip Fowler of Ipswich, Witness Daniel Smith. He became of age and discharged his guardian Fowler, 7 Jan., 1710-11.

In 1707 (11 May) he buys of John Pengry and Faith his wife, "a house lot with a common right to it, as it lyes in Ipswich, bounded by ye great street leading to Rowley, . . . which house lot, was formerly Aron Pengry's Dec'd." One of the witnesses, was John Fowler (his son).

In 1710 (22 June) when a shopkeeper, buys of John Rogers, minister, and Daniel Rogers, schoolmaster, two-thirds of an island of marsh ground and thatch bank lying below ye hundreds in Ipswich, Rogers Island.

In 1710 (3 July) he sells Michael Farley, clothier, one fourth part of Rogers Island, lying at lower part of marshes called the hundreds.

In 1711 (25 May) he, with John Kimball and Sarah his wife, sell Thomas Butler, an old right at Jeffery's neck.

In 1711-12 (7 Jan.) he buys of John Younglove, all of his estate, also of his daughter Jane Younglove, 1 June, 1713. (His son, John Fowler, takes the mark of Samuel Younglove, son of John above, for his sheep-mark.)

In 1713 (14 May) he sells Joseph and Robert Kinsman, for £12, eight acres in a division lot on southeast side of Chebacco pond, No. 428. This deed was ack. 27 April, 1721, by ELIZABETH FOWLER, widow of the within named PHILIP FOWLER.

In 1714 (7 May) he buys of Jacob Proctor, land at Jeffery's neck.

In 1714-15 (17 March) he, with the consent of ELIZABETH his wife, made deeds of gift, of farms with houses and buildings thereon, to each of his sons, John, Benjamin and Philip, also to the latter his tan-yard, and the homestead, to his eldest son Joseph.

Philip Fowler was a man of superior ability, and as a merchant, deputy marshal, and attorney, left a good record. He excelled in penmanship, and from his being chosen to appraise numerous estates, must have been a very capable man, and well acquainted with the value of property.

He acquired a large estate, and the homestead of his grandfather, which has been continued in the male line of descent to the present time, over two hundred years, and is occupied now by Joseph Fowler, [251] of High Street, Ipswich, Mass.

There is still standing, in good condition, on the old burying ground hill in High Street, Ipswich, his gravestone, elaborately ornamented and bearing the following inscription, "Here lyes intarred what was mortall of Mr. Philip Fowler who died November ye 16th 1715 Aged 67 wanting 39 days." It is quite probable that near this monument, rest the remains of Philip Fowler, senior, his grandfather, the ancestor of a numerous race.

In 1715-16 (9 Jan.) administration on his estate was granted to his widow Elizabeth Fowler, and an inventory of his personal estate was taken 10 Feb., 1715-16, by Nathaniel Lord and William Baker, recorded Essex Probate Bk. 11: 175, of which the following is a copy.

"An Inventory of ye estate of personal Mr. Phillip Fow-Ler, late of Ipswich dec'd, prized Feb., 10, 1715.

In 1717 (17 Dec.) ELIZABETH FOWLER witnesses, with her son Joseph Fowler, a deed of Giles Cowes, to her son Philip Fowler.

In 1721 (15 May) Widow Elizabeth Fowler, for £3 per year, well secured by bond, sells her son Joseph Fowler, "all that moiety or halfe of his houseing & Lands in said Ipswich, which is reserved in his Deeds of Gifts for me, Dureing the time of my natural Life," signed "Elizabeth & Fowler her marke or sign & Seal." She ack. it 5 March, 1722-3.

The Town records of Ipswich give:-

"Mrs. Elizabeth Fowler, relict of Mr. Philip Fowler, died May 6, 1727." Her will dated 26 July, 1721, on file Essex Probate, not recorded, gives to her daughter Martha March, clothing, etc. To daughter Mary Treadwell, clothing. To son Philip Fowler, the rest of her estate, he paying funeral charges debts, etc. Signed by her. Witnesses J. Staniford, Edward Eveleth, Elizabeth Eveleth.

The children of Philip and Elizabeth (Herrick) Fowler, were born in Ipswich (see Court records):—

- 43. Philip, b. 27 Nov., 1675; d. 1 June, 1676.
- 44. Elizabeth, b. 11 Feb., 1677-8.
- 45. Mary, b. about 1680; m. John Treadwell.
- 46. Martha, b. 15 May, 1681; died young.
- 47. Joseph, b. 7 Aug., 1683; m. Sarah Bartlett and others.
- 48. John, b. 12 Jan., 1684-5; m. Mercy Jacob.
- 49. Benjamin, b. 19 April, 1687; m. Mary Briar and others.
- 50. Martha, b. 6 April, 1690; m. Lieut. John March.
- 51. Philip, b. Oct., 1691; m. Susanna Jacob.

30 John (Joseph<sup>6</sup> Philip<sup>1</sup>) was born in Ipswich; married Sarah ———, by whom had two children, born in Ipswich.

He married, second, in Springfield, Mass., 31 Oct., 1695, Hannah Scott, who was born 16 Oct., 1668, the daughter of John and Sarah (Bliss) Scott of Springfield.

His grandfather Philip Fowler, senior, married for his second wife, the widow Mary Norton who had by her former marriage, a son George Norton, who removed from Ipswich to Springfield in 1675, and it is likely that John Fowler might have followed him, as he removed to Springfield, and there his eight youngest children were born.

In 1707 (7 April) he with others of Springfield, now West Springfield, drew a lot of land of 10 acres, No. 29, and a lot of 7 acres near "Dorbey's Brook," also land in 1720.

The children of John and Sarah Fowler, were:-

- 52. Elizabeth, b. March, 1683-4.
- 53. Benjamin, b. Jan., 1688-9.

The children of John and Hannah (Scott) Fowler, were:-

- 54. Hannah, b. 31 Aug., 1696.
- 55. John, b. 16 April, 1698; was granted land below "Aggowam" river, 19 April, 1720, and bought there, ten acres of land, No. 10, 21 Jan., 1720-1.
- 56. Mary, b. 12 Feb., 1700-1.

- 57. Sarah, b. 30 Jan., 1702-3.
- 58. Abigail, b. 26 May, 1703.
- 59. Elizabeth, b. 13 Dec., 1705.
- 60. Christopher, b. 29 Oct., 1708.
- 61. Elisha, b. 16 Feb., 1711-12.

This line has not been followed any further.

31 Mary (Joseph<sup>6</sup> Philip<sup>1</sup>) was born in Ipswich; married in Gloucester, 20 Jan., 1672–3, John Briers, who was born there 29 May, 1658, the son of John and Elizabeth (Jackson) Briers. Their child was born in Gloucester.

The child of John and Mary (Fowler) Briers, was:-

62. Joseph, b. 7 Dec., 1675.

FOURTH GENERATION.

40 Elizabeth (Joseph<sup>28</sup> Joseph<sup>6</sup> Philip<sup>1</sup>) was born in Wenham, in 1678; married there, int. 25 Jan., 1698-9, Capt. Samuel Kimball, jr., who was born there, 19 Aug., 1677, the son of Ensign Samuel and Marah (Witt) Kimball.

She died in Wenham, 17 Nov., 1736, aged 58 years.

He was appointed an overseer of the will of his brother-inlaw Joseph Fowler, dated 22 March, 1722–3, and after marrying again, died 20 Jan., 1746–7, leaving a will dated 17 Jan., 1745–6; proved 3 Feb., 1745–6, of which the original is on file in Essex Registry of Probate, in which he gives to his then wife Joanna, and his three sons Nathaniel, Josiah and Benjamin, his second son to be executor.

The children of Samuel and Elizabeth (Fowler) Kimball, were:—

- 63. Nathaniel, b. 30 Nov., 1699; d. 4 May, 1700.
- Nathaniel, b. 4 March, 1700-1; m. probably Sarah Wells, 14 March, 1724-5.
- Josiah, b. 29 Dec., 1702; m. probably Elizabeth Bragg, 3 July, 1723; 2d, Martha Cross, of Ipswich, 1746.

- Benjamin, b. 30 Jan., 1705-6; m. probably Elizabeth Hovey, 27 Dec., 1727.
- 67. Elizabeth, b. 4 Sept., 1709; died unmarried.
- 68. Mary, b.—; d. 15 April, 1716.

41 Joseph (Joseph<sup>28</sup> Joseph<sup>6</sup> Philip<sup>1</sup>) was born in Wenham, 15th, 1st mo., 1679; married there, 23 Nov., 1720, by Symonds Epps, Esquire, to Susannah Dennis.

In 1704-5 (6 March) he drew a lot of land in Wenham in right of commons, third lot in the swamp.

In 1707 (17 Dec.) he witnessed a deed of gift of his father Joseph Fowler to his son Richard, his brother.

In 1717-18 (13 March) he was appointed joint administrator of his father's estate, with Samuel Kimball his brother-in-law, and 13 May, 1718, received a double portion of his estate as the eldest son, having it seems also received previously, as did Richard his brother, a deed of gift.

In 1718 (7 April) he owed the estate of his brother Richard, deceased, £10, and the estate was also indebted to him.

The date of his death has not been found, but the will of Joseph Fowler of Wenham, husbandman, dated 22 March, 1722–3, was presented for probate 23 April, 1723, in which he gave to his wife Susannan, son Richard, who was under twenty-one years of age, half of house, etc., under certain conditions to be divided between "my cos'n Joseph Fowler and my Cozen Eliz'a Kimball, the said Elizabeth to be Next adjoining to the Land that is her Father's, and the said Joseph's Part to be Next to the Land of Heires of my Brother Richard, Late Dec'd." His wife to be executrix, and friends William Rogers and Samuel Kimball to be overseers.

His widow Susannah married 2d, in Wenham, 5 April, 1726, Samuel Smith of Ipswich. She was living 1 Nov., 1742, as her son Richard Fowler, on his sale of the pew in the Wenham meeting house at that date, reserves her a right to sit there during her natural life.

The only child of Joseph and Susannah (Dennis) Fowler, was:—

69. Richard, b. 13 Oct., 1721; m. Ruth (Chever?).

42 Richard (Joseph<sup>28</sup> Joseph<sup>6</sup> Philip<sup>1</sup>) was born in Wenham (date not found); married 22 Feb., 1704–5, Miriam Balen, who was born in Beverly, 2 Aug., 1683, the daughter of Freeborn and Merriam (Batchelder) (Moulton) Balch.

In 1706 (5 April) Richard Hutton of Wenham, "for the love and affection he hath to his two Grandsons Richard frowler and Hutten Goldsmith both of said Wenham, hath given, granted . . . all that my forty acres of land in said Wenham, be it more or less as hereafter butted and bounded, with all the building thereon, as also my commonage and common Right in Wenham." An acre of this land is reserved for the use "of Susannah, the now wife of said Hutton (Richard), if she shall survive her husband, so long as she shall remaine his widdow . . . and if either of my two Grandsons above named die without issue, his proportion of land shall be equally divided betwixt his Brothers and Sisters."

· In 1707 (17 Dec.) Joseph Fowler, senior, of Wenham, yeoman, for the love and affection which he bears his son RICHARD FOWLER of Wenham, who was about to marry with Miriam Balch, the daughter of Freeborn Balch of Beverly, gives him by deed of gift, one-third of his farm.

In 1714 (1 June) RICHARD FOWLER and Hutten Goldsmith, both of Wenham, husbandmen, sell William Rogers, a common right in Wenham, given to them by their grandfather Richard Hutton.

He died, 24 Jan., 1717-18, and administration on his estate was granted to his widow Miriam Fowler, 10 Feb., 1717-18.

In 1717-18 (15 March) mention is made in the inventory of his father's estate, of 20 acres of land given to RICHARD FOWLER and not set off to him, value £135. On the division of the estate 24 March, one share was set off to the relict of RICHARD FOWLER.

In 1729 (1 May) a division of his estate was made to Miriam Fowler, alias Day, relict widow of Richard Fowler, as her right of dower, one-third. The other two-thirds were divided into five parts, and Joseph the eldest son received two parts; daughters, Martha, third part; Elizabeth, fourth part; and Abigail, fifth part.

Widow Miriam Fowler married Dec., 1719, Ezekiel Day of Nutfield, and had deceased before 7 Nov., 1743, as her thirds were then divided, and her estate settled on "Joseph Fowler ye only son" he giving bonds to pay to "Thomas Perkins and his wife Elizabeth, ye only sister," £21-11-2.

The children of RICHARD and MIRIAM (BALCH) FOWLER, were:—

- Elizabeth, b. 19 Feb., 1705-6; m. Thomas Perkins of Ipswich, 8
   Feb., 1730-31.
- 71. Abigail, b. 4 Jan., 1706-7; m. Josiah White, 19 Aug., 1729. She was admitted, before her marriage, to Wenham Church, 21 July, 1728, and 14 May, 1729, when styled spinster, sells Benjamin Kimball, upland in Wenham, her interest in the estate of her father Richard Fowler, deceased, 6 acres bounding south by land lately belonging to her uncle Joseph Fowler, deceased, west by swamp, belonging to her brother Joseph Fowler, and northwest by division of her sister Elizabeth Fowler.
- 72. Miriam, b. 28 April, 1712; died in infancy.
- 73. Martha, b. 1 June, 1714; had Ezekiel Day appointed as her guardian 17 April, 1729, and he gave an account of his gnardianship 15 Sept., 1730. She had deceased and an inv. of her estate was rendered 22 Feb., 1733-4, by Thomas Perkins, adm'r.
- 74. Miriam, b. 25 April, 1715; died previous to 1743.
- 75. Joseph, b. 3 Aug., 1717; m. Elizabeth Perkins.

45 Mary (Philip<sup>29</sup> Joseph<sup>6</sup> Philip<sup>1</sup>) was born in Ipswich about 1680; married John Treadwell, who was born 28 Nov., 1670, the son of Thomas and Sarah (Titcomb) Treadwell of Ipswich; grandson of Thomas, the emigrant to Ipswich 1636.

In 1715-16 (13 Feb.) John Treadwell of Ipswich, yeoman, and Mary his wife, quit-claim all their right in the estate, both real and personal, of their father Philip Fowler, deceased, to Joseph and Philip Fowler, both of Ipswich, her brothers.

He died 16 Dec., 1727, aged 57 years (gravestone), leaving a will dated 28 Nov., 1727; proved 16 Jan., 1727-8; recorded Essex Probate, Bk. 15: 275; gave to wife Mary, daughters Elizabeth, Mary and Sarah, son Elisha, when he arrives at the age of twenty-one years, son Jonathan, when twenty-one years of age, son John also to be executor. Widow Mary Treadwell was appointed the guardian of her son Jonathan Treadwell, 11 June, 1731. "The widow Tredwell, relict of Mr. John Tredwell, d. 23 Oct., 1756" in Ipswich.

The children of John and Mary (Fowler) Treadwell, were:—

- 76. Elizabeth, b. 16 July, 1699; m. Major Gould, int. 23 June, 1723. Adm. on estate of Major Gould, late of Ipswich, fisherman, was granted to his son Major Gould, 24 Sept., 1781, who gave bonds with Joseph Fowler 3d, and A. Heard.
- 78. Sarah, b. 12 June, 1701; died young.
- 79. Mary, b. 13 March, 1702-3; living 28 Nov., 1727.
- 80. John, b. 24 Sept., 1707; m. Hannah Boardman, 9 Oct., 1728, had son John, b. in Ipswich, 20 Sept., 1738; grad. Harvard College, 1758; minister of the First Congregational Church in Lynn, ordained 2 March, 1763; resigned 1782 and returned to Ipswich, where he taught the Grammar School from 1783 to 1785. Representative to General Court 1785 and 1786. Removed to Salem, where he became Senator and Judge of the Common Pleas Court, and resided until his death which took place on the 5 Jan., 1811. His first wife was Mehitable, dau. of Richard Dexter, a physician in Topsfield, and Mehitable Putnam, a sister of Gen. Israel Putnam, of Revolutionary fame, and dau. of Joseph and Elizabeth (Porter) Putnam. His second wife was Dorothy, widow of Jonathan Goodhue, a merchant of Salem, and dau. of Jacob and Mary (Ropes) Ashton. She d. May, 1802, aged 51. He lived some years in the house in Crombie Street, now occupied by the Bowker family. A daughter Mehitable married Charles Cleveland, the venerable City Missionary in Boston, and had son Prof. Charles Dexter Cleveland, the author of many school books. His only son was John Dexter Treadwell, born in Lynn, 29 May, 1768; graduated Harvard College, 1788; studied medicine with Dr. E. A. Holyoke, and practised the profession for the first two or three years in Marblehead; afterwards in Salem, with considerable celebrity, until his decease, which took place 6 June, 1833. He was preëminent in the science and erudition of his profession, thoroughly read in the ethical and mental philosophy of the ancients, as well as of the moderns, and particularly learned in all the branches of knowledge, connected with philology and criticism of the old and new Testaments. He m. Dorothy, dau. of Jonathan and Dorothy (Ashton) Goodhue, who was b. Feb., 1777, and d. 29 Jan., 1858. Had one son, John Goodhue Treadwell, M. D., b. 1 Aug., 1805; graduated at Harvard College, 1825; for many years a very successful practitioner of medicine in Salem; died 5 Aug., 1856, unmarried. Essex Inst. Hist. - 83. Sarah, b. 8 March, 1719-20; m. probably Dr. Abiah Green of Hampton, N. II., int. 29 Sept., 1737.

47 Joseph (Philip<sup>29</sup> Joseph<sup>6</sup> Philip<sup>1</sup>) was born in Ipswich, 7 Aug., 1683; married in Newbury, Dec., 1707, Sarah Bartlett, the daughter of John and Mary (Rust) Bartlett of Newbury, who was born there, 27 Nov., 1687. Her father was a wealthy tanner, and the second to carry on the tanning business in Newbury, which has been continued by his descendants on the same site, to the present time, some two hundred years. He made his will 11 April. 1733, which was proved 7 June, 1736, wherein he mentions his daughter Sarah Fowler, and leaves property to her representatives.

JOSEPH FOWLER had, by SARAH his wife, six children born in Ipswich (the first three are so recorded, the last three are only baptisms, when she is called Elizabeth. Her death is recorded as Elizabeth, as is also his second wife Mary's, an evident error), and she died 8 Jan., 1721-2.

He was married 2d in Salem, by Rev. Benjamin Prescott, 22 Aug., 1722, to Widow Mary Trask. She was probably the widow of John Trask of Salem, on whose estate she administered 20 June, 1720. She died in Ipswich 23 Aug., 1728.

He married 3d, in Boxford, 31 Dec., 1728, ABIGAIL PERLEY, the widow of Samuel Perley, and the daughter of Mr. Cummings. She died in Ipswich, 8 Aug., 1730.

He married 4th, in Wenham, int. 31 Oct., 1730, Hannah Sedan, the widow of Samuel Sedden, of Wenham, upon whose estate "Hannah Sedden alias Fowler" administered and gave in her account, 24 May, 1731. He left a large estate and Joseph Fowler was appointed guardian of her children, 23 Jan., 1738-9.

In 1711-12 (20 March) he is of Ipswich, carpenter, with wife Sarah, and sells land bought of Edward Chapman, in Chebacco in Ipswich, to Jacob Story.

In 1714 (25 June) he receives a deed of gift from his parents, of which the following is a copy:—

"To all Christian People to whom this present Deed of gift shall come, I, Phillip Fowler of Ipswich, in ye County of Essex, within the province of ye Massachusets bay in New England, send Greeting. Essex ss., In Ipswich, ye 2<sup>d</sup> Day of April, 1715. Mr. Philip flowler prsonaly appeared, & acknowledged this Instrument to be their Act & Deed before me. Nehemiah Jewet. Just. Peace." Essex Deeds Bk. 27: 132.

In 1715-16 (23 Jan.) he buys of Andrew Stickney of Rowley, and his wife Edna, land in Rowley township.

In 1716-17 (16 Feb.) he sells John Howard land in Chebacco wood in Ipswich.

In 1717 (17 Dec.) with his mother Elizabeth Fowler, witnesses a deed of Giles Cowes to Philip Fowler (his brother).

In 1718 (24 Oct.) "Ensign Joseph Fowler" was "one of ye pounders in ye Northfield in Ipswich," and took up a mare, one of the appraisers of which was Benjamin Fowler (his brother).

In 1719 (20 Aug.) he quits-claim to salt marsh and thatch ground at Rogers' Island, Ipswich, unto his brother John Fowler, lands that belonged "to our father Mr. Phillip Fowler, late deceased." Witnesses, William Giddings and Thomas Choate. The former acknowledged this deed 6 Aug., 1751, when Joseph Fowler had deceased, as had also Thomas Choate, the other witness. His brother John gives him a similar quit-claim of 9 acres of salt marsh at Rogers' Island, same date.

In 1720 (30 June) he buys of Simon Tuttle, his homestead in Ipswich, "on ye North side ye river in ye Long Street so called 60 rods North on Long Street" etc., which he, with wife Mary, sells 5 March, 1722-3, to Joseph Bolles.

In 1720 (8 Sept.) he sells Nathaniel Hovey a thatch lot; and 22 Sept., with wife Sarah, sells Thomas Smith and Daniel Chapman, saltmarsh; 8 Feb., he sells Nathaniel Treadwell land at Jeffries Neck; and 14 March, with consent of wife Sarah, land to John Kimball.

In 1721 (15 May) his mother, Elizabeth Fowler, of Ipswich, widow, sells him for £3 per year, well secured by bond, "all that moiety or halfe of his houseing & Lands in said Ipswich, which is reserved in his Deeds of Gifts, for me, Dureing the time of my natural Life," which was ack. 5 March, 1722-3.

In 1722 (4 June) he sells Jeremiah Dow and William Sutton, land at Jeffries Neck.

In 1723-4 (7 Jan.) with wife Mary, sells land to Jeremiah Lord.

In 1726 (1 Dec.) he receives a quit-claim from his brothers Philip and Benjamin, of a common right formerly their father's.

In 1731-2 (25 Jan.) he is of Wenham, yeoman, and bnys of the Saltonstall heirs, swamp land in Ipswich, which he sells 22 May, 1740, when of Ipswich, carpenter, with wife Hannah, to Benjamin Batchelder of Wenham.

In 1734 (29 Nov.) he is of Ipswich, carpenter, and with Hannah his wife, sells Zachery Story, thatch lot No. 425 at "Jebacko" Ipswich. One of the witnesses was (his son-in-law) Francis Goodhue.

In 1740 (9 Sept.) styled gentleman, and with wife Hannaii, for £100, mortgages to Robert Auchmuty, of Roxbury, Esq., and others, Directors of Manufacturing Company, for his share as a partner in said company.

The pecuniary embarrassment of the province at that time led to the project of a Manufacturing Company or Land Bank, for issuing Land Bank Notes, of which, as will be seen above, he became a member.

In 1742-3 (13 Jan.), with wife Hannah, sells upland to Job Harris; 1 March, he sells with his brothers Philip and Benjamin, to Jonathan Foster, woodlot No. 180 in Chebacco woods, which they inherited from their father.

In 1744 (20 Aug.) with wife Hannah and brother Philip Fowler of Newmarket, N. H., sells Aquila Jewett, of Rowley, land in Rowley.

Ensign Joseph Fowler died in Ipswich, 28 Dec., 1745, leaving a will dated 4 Oct., 1745; proved 6 Jan., 1745-6; recorded Essex Probate Bk. 26: 251; original on file, in which he gives his wife Hannah all the goods she brought with her, and the southerly end of his dwelling house, with the shop and cellar under it, etc., during her widowhood, also the improvement of one-half of all his lands. To daughter Elizabeth Kimball, besides what she has already, £5. The same to daughter Sarah Goodhue. To daughter Dorcas Brown, £10. To daughter Mary Dutch, £60. The remainder of his estate, real and personal, to his son Joseph Fowler, who is also to be executor. Signed by him with a seal, with a crest resembling a stag's head.

NEHEMIAH JEWET. PHILLIP FOWLER (& a seale).

THOMAS LORD. ELIZABETH & FOWLER
MILLESENT M DAY (her mark). (her mark & a seale).

Essex ss., In Ipswich, ye 17th of March, 1714, Mr. Philip Fowler & Elizabeth, his wife, personally appeared & acknowledged this Instrument, to be their Act & Deed, and Sd Elizabeth, did freely resigne up all her Right of Dower, in ye Granted premises, Before me Nehemiah Jewet. Just: Peace."

In 1718 (22 May) he entered into an agreement with John Kimball of Ipswich, respecting the bounds of Batchellors farm.

In 1719 (20 Aug.) he is of Ipswich, yeoman, and quitsclaim to his brother Joseph Fowler of Ipswich, 9 acres of salt marsh at Rogers' Island which formerly belonged to their father.

In 1727 (6 July) he buys of Thomas Todd of Norwich, Conn., a common right in Rowley; 24 Oct., he buys of Nathan Davis of Rowley, husbandman, and Mary his wife, 4 acres of Cowbridge marsh in Rowley, and one of the witnesses was Philip Fowler his brother; he sells this 2 Aug., 1739, to George Jewett of Rowley. He buys again of Nathan Davis, 4 Jan., 1731-2.

In 1730-1 (24 March) he sells Deacon Jonathan Fellows of Ipswich, one-half of a new right in sheep's commons in Ipswich, called Walkers swamp island division; three-fifths of half a new lot of thatch land No. 490, lot at Jeffrey's neck No. 204, of woodlot No. 432, all which were part of the grant of the commons of Ipswich, to the heirs of Thomas Jacob and Joseph Jacob, late of said Ipswich, deceased, and belonged to Capt. Abraham Tilton, in right of his wife Mary, Moses Chase, in right of his wife, and the said John Fowler, in right of his wife Mercy, they being daughters of Thomas Jacob before named. One of the witnesses was his brother Philip Fowler.

In 1734 (17 April) he buys of his brothers, Benjamin of Rowley and Philip of Ipswich, for £72, upland in Ipswich, "of the Lott of Our Hon'rd Father, Philip Fowler, Dec'd, which he gave to his sons Benjamin and Philip Fowler."

In 1735-6 (31 Jan.) he buys of John Pritchet of Topsfield, house and land in Topsfield, which he sells 9 April, 1737, to William Reddington of Topsfield.

In 1736 (10 June) with John Chaplin and Thomas Wood of Rowley, he sells John Flood of Salisbury, 70 acres of land in Boxford.

In 1737-8 (17 March) he with wife Mercy, sells Joseph Metcalf of Ipswich, land there.

In 1738-9 (7 Feb.) "in consideration of that Parental Love and Affection which I bear to my son Jn° Fowler, of Ipswich, afores'd, I do give unto Him and his Heirs, viz't:—the child he now hath, with what Children He may have hereafter, An Equal Portion with Them, if there be none, then the whole to his Ex'rs, Adm'rs and Assigns forever . . . The new House, with Three acres of Land about it. Also I give unto my s'd Son, my old Right in the Commons called Kimbals neck, with my Right in the Supernumerary, for forty Two Acres . . . Also Three acres of Meadow, lying on the Southerly side of sd land, which I bought of Wm. Sherwin & Thos.

Potter. Also a certain Lott of Land, lying in a place called Grape meadow Woods, upon Letter B. number Twenty One, in Rowley . . . All the land above mentioned, except sd Lott in Rowley, lays in Ipswich." Ack. 6 March, 1738-9.

He was elected Ensign of an Ipswich company of militia as early as 1722, an important office, at a period when the country was engaged in an Indian War. He was perhaps in actual service, but the military rolls at the State House have not been examined for the name of Fowler. He was foreman, of the jury at Ipswich Court of Common Pleas, March, 1728, and on the jury of trials, 1733, also held many offices of trust, in his native town. As will be seen, he received a deed of gift from his parents, of a valuable farm in the west parish of Ipswich, and his wife, a legacy of £65, from the estate of her father Ensign Thomas Jacob, in his will dated 3 Dec., 1706; proved 17 March, 1706–7. He improved and added to his estate during his lifetime, and left his children a good inheritance.

He died in Ipswich, intestate, 17 Sept., 1748, and his widow Mercy, was appointed adm'x, but in a note on file in the Essex Probate Office, dated 25 Oct., 1748, she refuses the trust when she signs as "MARCY FOWLER," it is witnessed by her son "Zacharias Fowler," and adm. was then granted to his son John Fowler, 31 Oct., 1748. Inv. taken 7 Nov., 1748, amt. £1162-14-1. Account of Adm. 9 April, 1750. Division 24 Dec., 1750, to his widow MERCY Fowler, her thirds, as right of dower, during her natural life. The remaining two thirds divided into four parts, to John Fowler the eldest son, first share "ye whole with ye buildings thereon £116." "John Fowler, jun., house, and the three acres of land aboute it, given to him by Deed, by his father, dec'd" etc., and fourth share of £108. To son Zachariah Fowler, the second share £107-12-4, with £15-2-0 from his brother John. To the only daughter Martha, the third share £103-5-0, with £19-9-4, from her brother John.

MERCY FOWLER was a member of the First Church of Ipswich, 21 April, 1746, and when a widow, was admitted to Linebrook Church, 7 Jan., 1749-50. She died in Ipswich, 6 Dec., 1769.

The children of Ensign John and Mercy (Jacob) Fowler, were:—

- 90. John, bapt. 7 March, 1714-15; m. Mercy Howe.
- 91. Zachariah, bapt. 7th, 7th mo., 1718.
- 92. Mercy, bapt. 31 March, 1723; d. 6 April, 1723.
- 93. Mercy, bapt. 5 April, 1724; d. 4 July, 1724.
- Martha, bapt. 8 May, 1726; m. "Mr. Joseph Symonds of Boxford," int., 27 Dec., 1754. We find no further record of them. She may have died in Ipswich, 1 March, 1812, æt. 90 years.
- 49 Benjamin (Philip<sup>29</sup> Joseph<sup>6</sup> Philip<sup>1</sup>) was born in Ipswich, 19 April, 1687; married there, 24 Jan., 1709–10 Mary Briar.

He married, second, in Rowley, 5 Aug., 1717, Sarah Warner, who died in Ipswich, 24 Aug., 1730.

He married, third, in Newbury, 26 May, 1731, MARY THORLA, who died in Rowley, 27 Jan., 1756, aged about 69 years.

He married, fourth, in Ipswich, int., 23 July, 1756, Anna Foster, the widow of James Foster of Ipswich; and she died in Rowley, as the widow and relict of Benjamin Fowler, 11 Feb., 1769, in the 85th year of her age.

In 1714 (25 June) he received from his parents the following deed of gift, recorded Essex Deeds Bk. 30: 13.

"To All Christian People to whom this present Deed shall come, I, Philip ffowler of Ipswich, in ye County of Essex, within ye province of ye Massachusetts Bay, in New England, Send Greeting. In 1746 (9 May) when of New Market, N. H., husbandman, sells (his nephew) Joseph Fowler of Ipswich, husbandman, half of 10 acres of land in Ipswich, and 16 Aug., 1749, two-fifths part of three old lots on Rogers Island in Ipswich, given him by his father.

In 1755 (3 Oct.) he sells Jonathan Parsons of Newbury, house and houselot in Newbury.

For his record and those of his descendants after his removal to New Market, N. H., in 1743, we are indebted to Hon. Asa Fowler, of Concord, N. H., a descendant.

"Philip Fowler is reported to have fitted for Harvard College, but did not enter, engaging instead in trade, and carrying on the tanning business, until he sold out and removed to New Market, N. H., in May, 1743, where he died, 16 May, 1767. His widow died there, in 1773. Before removing to New Market, he purchased of his brother-in-law Joseph Jacob, for the consideration of £2000, two hundred and thirty-six acres of land in 'New Market in the township of Exeter and province of New Hampshire, with two houses and two barns thereon.' The deed is dated 14 Feb., 1737-8. For fifty-six acres of this land, including the homestead, he was sued by Josiah Hilton in 1760, and after two trials, one in the Common Pleas and the other in the Superior Court, both resulting in verdicts in Fowler's favor, Hilton appealed to the Governor and Council, some of whom were directly interested in the event of the suit as lessors of the plaintiff, and they in 1764 rendered judgment in favor of Hilton, from which the defendant appealed to the King in Council and furnished bonds to prosecute his appeal in The Governor and Council granted this appeal, which vacated their judgment, and then at once issued a writ of possession founded thereon, upon which Fowler was turned out of the land and compelled to pay costs. He had executed his will, 22 May, 1754, therein devising his large landed estate to his three sons, Philip, Jacob and Symonds, and requiring them to pay legacies to his daughters. The land in controversy with Hilton was devised to the two former sons. The appeal was prosecuted in England by the father and these devisees until after the Declaration of American Independence, and in 1777, the Legislature of New Hampshire passed an act authorizing these devisees to bring an action of Review in the Superjor Court for Rockingham county to determine the title to Such action was brought by them, and at the September Term, 1778, of that Court, they recovered judgment for the land, costs of Court and costs of former litigation. On the 14th of September, 1778, the Sheriff put them into possession of the property from which their father had been wrongfully ejected fourteen years before.

The following is a copy of his will and inventory:-

"In the name of God, Amen, I, Philip Fowler of New Market in the Province of New Hampshire in New England, Yeoman, this twenty second day of May, Anno Domini 1754, and in the 27th year of the reign of his Majesty King George the second, being of sound mind and memory (blessed be God), altho' weak in body, being desirous to settle my estate before my decease, do make and ordain this to be my last will and testament. I do first and principally give and recommend my soul to God that gave it, and my body to the earth, to be buried in decent Christian manner at the discretion of my executor hereafter named: and as touching such worldly goods and estate as God has blessed me withal, I do give, demise and dispose of the same in manner following—

Imprimis—My will is that all my honest and just debts and funeral charges be paid in convenient time after my decease, by my executor hereafter named—

Item—I give and bequeath to my dear and well beloved wife, the use and benefit of the one third part of all my lands, both upland and marsh together, with the one third part of all my buildings standing or being thereon, during her natural life. I also give and bequeath to my said wife all my household stuff and goods, all my beds and bed cloaths and every thing belonging to them, and all sorts of cloth and clothing, and all the wooden, earthen, pewter, brass, tin, iron, glass utensils in my house, together with all my silver utensils and gold that is in my house of any sort and kind, and all my household goods and stuff of all sorts and kinds, that can be named, together with all my stores of provisions of every kind whatsoever, for her own, to be to her sole use and benefit and behoof forever, and to be disposed of at her pleasure; provided she so accept this my will, as to renounce or disclaim her dower or thirds.

Item—I give and bequeath to my beloved son Philip, one hundred and eight acres of land, laying and being in New Market aforesaid, on which my dwelling house stands, butted and bounded as follows, viz: beginning at the river and running the whole width of my land till it come to two white oak trees, marked P. J. on the southeast side of my field orchard so called, and then at sixty-four rods distance from Hubartus Neal's lands on the southwest side of it, ranging said oak trees which is above the highway, viz., in the upper field, then running from thence over to John Wedgewood's land, and extending into the woods, till it makes said hundred and eight acres, that is, so as to leave fifty acres on the northeast side of it for my son Jacob as I bound it to him in this my last will and testament. And also one third part of my marsh called the first marsh, together with my upland at the head of it, to possess and enjoy the same, with all the buildings upon the said hundred and eight acres, with all the privileges and appurtenances thereunto belonging or any way appertaining (excepting the third part thereof during the natural life of my wife, as is above mentioned) together with all my implements and utensils for farming, for his own forever; and I also give to my son Philip, the whole of my interest in the Township laying on Saco river, called Narragansett, which was originally Jacobs right, with all the privileges and appurtenances thereunto belonging or any ways appertaining.

Item—I give and bequeath to my beloved son Jacob fifty acres of my land in New Market, aforesaid, which is butted and bounded as follows, viz., beginning at Hubartus Neal's land on the southeast side of my field orchard (so called) and running southwesterly sixty-four rods, ranging two white oak trees before mentioned marked P. J. and running to Josiah Bailey's land such a width as will make fifty acres, viz., below said Bailey's land; and also one third part of my marsh and upland before mentioned called first marsh, with all the privileges and appurtenances belonging or in any ways appertaining to said parcels of land and marsh (excepting the one third part thereof during the natural life of my wife as above).

Item—I give & bequeath unto my beloved son Simonds seventy acres of my land in New Market aforesaid, beginning at the upper ends thereof by Smarts and Brackett's land, and running the whole width of my land down towards the river, till said seventy acres is completed, and also one third part of my marsh and upland aforesaid at first marsh, with all the privileges and appurtenances belonging or in any ways appertaining to said parcels of land and marsh, excepting the third part thereof during the natural life of my wife; but if my land will not hold out so that each son may have the full number of acres I have above bequeathed unto him, then it is my will, that each son shall fall short in his number of acres in proportion to the number of acres given him, but if it measures more, each shall have his proportion of the overplus, according to the number of acres bequeathed him.

Item—I give and bequeath unto my beloved daughters, viz., Elizabeth, Susanna, Judith and Mary, three hundred pounds old tenor to each of them, according to the present value in this Province, that is, after Judith has been made equal with her other sisters when they were married, which it is my will that she should be, all to be paid within three years after my decease; and it is my will, that Philip should pay off the said legacies to my said daughters, three hundred pounds to Susanna, & two hundred pounds to Judith, and that Jacob should pay to Mary her three hundred pounds, and that Simonds should pay Elizabeth her three hundred pounds, & one hundred pounds to Judith.

And I do hereby ordain & appoint my son Philip Fowler, to be sole Exr. to this my last will and testament, and it is my will that he take my stock, book debts, bills, bonds & whatsoever estate personal or real is to be found, which is not bequeathed to my wife or children, to pay my just debts and funeral charges & to make Judith equal with her sisters as aforesaid, & in case there are not sufficient herefor, then each son shall pay an equal part of what shall be needed more, to pay my debts, &c., but if my stock &c., as above mentioned, shall more than pay my debts & funeral charges, &c., then each son shall have an equal part of the overplus.

And by these presents, revoking all former will or wills, testament or testaments, I pronounce & declare this to be my last will & testament.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand & seal the day & year above mentioned.

Witnesses,

PHILIP FOWLER.

THOMAS YOUNG.
JOHN MEAD.
ICHABOD WHIDDEN.

Be it known to all men by these presents, That I, Philip FOWLER of New Market within his Majesties Province of New Hampshire in New England, Yeoman, have made & declared my last will & testament in writing bearing date the 22d day of May A. D. 1754, & in the 24th year of the reign of His Majesty King George the second. I, the said PHILIP FOWLER, by this present codicil do ratify & confirm my said will & testament & do further declare, that inasmuch as fifty-six acres of my land on which my house stands, is (since my will is written) in the law & my son Philip has obliged himself to the warrantors Joseph Sherburne, Esq. of Boston and Mr. Henry Sherburne, Esq., Mr. John Sherburne & Mr. Daniel Rindge, Merchants in Portsmouth, to defray one half of the charge for carrying the case home to England. It is my will that my other two sons Jacob & Simonds should pay each their equal part of said charge with my son Philip in proportion to their interest in my estate as mentioned in my said will. And also, that in case any of the land I have willed to either of my said sons should hereafter come into the law, they should each of them bear their proportion of the charge which may thereby arise as aforesaid. And my will & meaning is, that this codicil be adjudged to be a part & parcel of my last will & testament & that all things therein mentioned & contained be faithfully & truly performed and as fully & amply in every respect, as if the same were declared & set down in my said will & testament. Witness my hand this 25th day of July, 1764.

Witnesses,

PHILIP FOWLER.

In 1746 (9 May) he buys of (his uncle) Philip Fowler of Newmarket, N. H., half of 10 acres of land in Ipswich. Also 16 Aug., 1749, two-fifths part of three old lots on Rogers Island in Ipswich.

In 1755 (26 April) he was a member of Ipswich First Church, and in 1767, taxed in Ipswich 1 head, styled Sergeant.

In 1787 (15 Feb.) he buys of his daughter, widow Lucy Staniford, all her real estate in Ipswich, of her late husband Ebenezer Staniford, his share of his father Capt. Thomas Staniford's estate.

In 1791 (20 May) with wife Esther, sells John Patch, land and house, one-fourth part, being that part which was Capt. Thomas Staniford's, set off to Lucy Staniford, 14 June, 1784. One of the witnesses, Elizabeth Fowler (his daughter).

In 1792 (3 March) he sells land to his son James Fowler, for £100.

In 1797 (18 Dec.) with wife Esther, sells land to Daniel Noyes, Esq., and 4 Feb., he buys of Thomas Hodgkins, jr., dwelling house and land on back lane so called.

In 1804 (19 April) with wife Esther, sells Aaron Perley of Boxford, saltmarsh in Ipswich, in the Hundreds so called, lying in common undivided with Oliver Appleton.

He died in Ipswich, 1 Feb., 1807, in his 92d year, as will be noticed, the day after the decease of his wife Esther, and they were buried in one grave.

His will dated 8 May, 1795; proved 3 March, 1807; recorded Essex Probate Bk. 75: 17, gives to wife Esther. To daughter Mary Giddings, £10, to be paid by my three sons Joseph, Samuel and Philip. To daughter Elizabeth Harding, to be paid by my son James Fowler. To granddaughter Betty Curtis, when twenty-one. To son James Fowler. To grandehildren of my son Nathaniel Fowler, deceased. To my three sons Joseph, Samuel and Philip.

162. John, bapt. 27 Dec., 1747; m. 19 April, 1770, "Fanny Jones of Danvers, the daughter and sister of two officers in the British Army when the Revolution broke out, each with the rank of Major, when each resigned his commission and settled in Barre, Mass. Gen. Washington solicited them to accept a commission in the American Army with the same rank; this they declined, assigning as a reason that they could not take arms against their King, and when asked why they resigned, replied they never could fight against the cause of Liberty. This may appear inconsistent, but when they received their commission from the Crown they were bound by a solemn oath which they would not violate. The name of her father was William and her brother's Edward." John Dutch was a merchant and owner of the Brig "Antelope" which he had built by Retire Becket in Salem, in 1799. He resided in Salem where his wife died 10 Aug., 1828, aged 76, and he died 27 Aug., 1836 aged 91, and where their fourteen children were born, viz.:-<sup>1</sup>John, b. 7 Nov., 1770; d. 9 Aug., 1771. <sup>2</sup>Sarah, b. 15 Nov., 1771; m. Abraham and Hepzibeth (Andrews) Howe. Her line back is:— Abraham and Sarah (Peabody) Howe; James (senior) and Elizabeth (Dane) Howe of Ipswich 1642, the emigrant from Hockeril near Bishop Stortford, County of Essex, Old England; Robert Howe of Hatfield, Broad Oak, Essex County, England.

In 1738-9 (7 Feb.) he received a deed of gift from his father, of "The new House, with Three acres af Land about it, . . . my old Right in the Commons, called Kimbals neck, with my Right in the Supernumerary for Forty Two Acres, . . . Three acres of Meadow lying on the Southerly side of sd land, which I bought of Wm. Sherwin & Thos. Potter (all of which is in Ipswich). Also a certain Lott of Land lying in a place called Grape Meadow Woods, upon Letter B, number Twenty One, in Rowley."

In 1746, '47, '48, '49, he was chosen in Linebrook parish, on the committee for calling parish meetings.

In 1748 (31 Oct.) he was appointed administrator of his father's estate, and in the division, received, as the eldest son, first share "ye whole with ye buildings thereon £116, house, and the three acres of land aboute it, given to him by Deed by his father deceased" and "fourth share of £108," he paying sums to his brother and sister.

In 1750-1 (25 Feb.) he is of Ipswich, yeoman, and buys of Nathan Davis and Mary his wife, of Providence, County of Providence, in the Colony in New England, 3 acres of upland and salt marsh in Rowley, at "Swans Casway" bounding west on marsh of Benjamin Stickney, which he with wife Mercy, sells 12 July, 1751, to Robert Hale, Esq., of Beverly.

In 1757 (17 Aug.) he was in the Troop of Horse commanded by Capt. Richard Manning, and Col. Daniel Appleton, that marched on the alarm for the relief of Fort William Henry, and received for his wages £3-0-8.

In 1765 (30 Oct.) he buys upland in Rowley; also 2 Nov., 1768; saltmarsh, 13 Jan., 1770, when his son John Fowler junior, witnesses for him; and 18 June, 1770, land, dwelling house and barn.

In 1767 he was taxed in Ipswich, when he had two polls in his family. Also in 1770 as a non-resident of Rowley.

In 1776 (9 Jan.) he sells for £300 to his son John Fowler, 3d, of Ipswich, yeoman, upland and meadow with buildings in Ipswich, and woodland in Rowley.

In 1777 (28 Feb.) he sells Allen Foster, a farm he bought of Jacob How, late of Ipswich, deceased, of 23 acres lying in Ipswich at Pecar's Bridge, with half a dwelling house.

He died in Ipswich, 9 Sept., 1803, æt. 91 years (gravestone in Linebrook parish, Ipswich).

The Salem Gazette of 20 Sept., 1803, contains the following obituary notice:—

"Died at Ipswich, Mr. John Fowler, aged 91 years and six months. His character exhibited an assemblage of christian virtues. The hungry he fed; the naked he clothed; and the needy of every description obtained shelter, assistance and protection from him. Seven children, 58 grandchildren, and 80 great grandchildren, together with a numerous acquaintance, unite in deploring the loss of a tender and compassionate father, a kind friend, a valuable neighbour, and a determined friend to his country."

The following is a copy of his will, recorded Essex Probate Bk. 71: 55, original on file.

91 Zachariah ( $John^{48}$   $Philip^{29}$   $Joseph^6$   $Philip^1$ ) was born in Ipswich, baptized there, 7th, 7th mo., 1718; probably never married, is called trader and mariner.

In 1748 (25 Oct.) in a note on file in Essex Probate Office, he witnesses the refusal of his mother "Marcy Fowler," to become administratrix of her husband's estate, when he signs as "Zacharias Fowler."

In 1751 (26 Dec.) he is of Ipswich, mariner, and sells Robert Hale, of Beverly, his right in Rogers' Island, it being part of the estate of his father John Fowler, late of Ipswich. At the same time, with Robert Hale, conveyed to Anthony Potter, land in Rowley which he inherited from his father.

We learn no more of him, and presume he was lost at sea.

101 Elizabeth (Philip<sup>51</sup> Philip<sup>29</sup> Joseph<sup>6</sup> Philip<sup>1</sup>) was born in Ipswich, 26th, 3d mo., 1717; married, int. 17 Jan., 1735-6, Captain Benjamin Herbert of Salem, who was baptized at the First Church, Salem, 21 Aug., 1709, the son of Col. William; grandson of John; great-grandson of John (b. 7 Aug., 1674) and Mary (Follett) Herbert, who were married 15 April, 1672. Mary Follett was evidently the daughter of Robert Follett of Salem, as 29 April, 1703, Robert Follett of Salem, husbandman, gives to his grandson William Herbert of Salem, mariner, half of the dwelling house and acre of land near the Point of Rocks which is on Salem Neck.

Capt. Benjamin Herbert resided in Salem, probably at the Point of Rocks on Salem Neck, and died 20 Jan., 1761, in his 52d year. His gravestone, with that of his widow, may be seen in the Charter Street Burying Ground of Salem, the latter, bearing the following inscription:—

"Here lie buried the remains of Elizabeth, consort of Capt. Benjamin Herbert. In her were united the affectionate wife, the tender Parent, the Friend to the distressed and in a Word, the Pious and good Woman. Obt. Octr. 23d, A. D. 1772. Ætatis 55."

- 102 Philip (Philip<sup>51</sup> Philip<sup>29</sup> Joseph<sup>6</sup> Philip<sup>1</sup>) was born in Ipswich, 21 June, 1719; baptized 22 June, 1719; married there, Nov., 1760, SARAH SHATSWELL, who was born in Ipswich, probably the one baptized there 14 Aug., 1737, the daughter of Richard and Sarah Shatswell, and died in New Market, N. H., 25 Feb., 1810.

In 1735 (26 Dec.) he witnessed a deed of his father's, and is given land in New Market, N. H., by his father, in his will dated 22 May, 1754, and was engaged in the same lawsuit with his brothers, mentioned on page 75, and recovered his portion of property.

In 1776 (12 July) he signed the test oath proposed by the New Hampshire Assembly, returned by the Selectmen of N. H.

The following obituary notice is supposed to have been written by Gov. Plumer:—"Died at New Market, N. H., Sept., 18, 1811, Philip Fowler, aged 93, a man of sound sense and strict integrity, a professor of Christianity, and what is of more importance, a man whose practice through life was in exact conformity to his profession. When a good man expires, at whatever age he may meet his fate, the world suffers a loss which it ought not soon to forget, since the living example of virtue is more powerful than her warmest precepts."

The children of Philip and Sarah (Shatswell) Fowler, were:—

- 178. Sarah, b. 22 June, 1762; m. Gov. William Plumer.

152 Samuel (Joseph<sup>87</sup> Joseph<sup>47</sup> Philip<sup>29</sup> Joseph<sup>6</sup> Philip<sup>1</sup>) was born in Ipswich, 9 Jan., 1748-9; baptized there 11 Jan., 1748-9; married in Danvers, 4 March, 1773, SARAH PUTNAM, the daughter of Archelaus and Mehitable (Putnam) Putnam.

In the spring of 1754, Deacon Archelaus Putnam, her father, moved a building which had been used as a shop, from his father's farm, now known as the "Judge Putnam farm" on "Meeting-House Lane," down Crane river, by floating it from the upper mill-pond near his father's house, to the bank of the river at what is now Danversport. The building was landed near where the depot now stands, and taken across the land to a point south of where Warren's store now stands. He converted it into a dwelling house, and here his daughter Sarah, the first white child was born, 14 Sept., 1755. She was baptized in the North Parish by the Rev. Peter Clark, 21 Sept., 1755. She lived to see great changes and relate many anecdotes of the past, and died 19 Nov., 1847, æt. 92 yrs. 2 mos. 5 days, having had 6 children, 27 grandchildren, and 60 greatgrandchildren. She was considered a very handsome woman, her chief beauty being a snowy complexion and bright dark eyes. Some account of her, with a poor lithograph portrait, is given in the History of the Centennial Celebration in Danvers, 1852.

From the grist and chocolate mills which Deacon Putnam built south of his house, soon after his settlement there, this part of the town derives its name of "Danvers New Mills."

Samuel Fowler left Ipswich as early as 1765, and was one of the pioneer settlers of "Danvers New Mills." He was a shipwright by trade, and assisted in building, before and during the Revolution, many vessels there, of some of which he was part owner, and engaged in trade to the West Indies, and is called on record a merchant. He was a private in the company of Capt. Jeremiah Page, that marched on the alarm to Lexington, the 19th April, 1775. He made many purchases of land, was interested in the mills which eventually became the property of his son. By his own industry he acquired a good estate during a period of great financial distress. He died in Danvers 20 April, 1813.

His will dated 3 July, 1774; proved 2 Feb., 1779, gives all his estate to his wife Mercy. Amt. of Inv. £3597-3-0.

MERCY PERKINS, wife of JACOB PERKINS of Boxford, was admitted to the second parish church in Rowley, now Georgetown, 28 Aug., 1763.

She married 2d, in Boxford, 28 Oct., 1779, Col. David Hobart, then of Plymouth, N. H., who was born in Groton, 31 Aug., 1720, the son of Peter, and grandson of Gershom Hobart, the third minister of Groton.

In 1787 (3 Feb.) "Mercy Hubbard" is mentioned in her father's will, and she receipts June, 1806, to her brother John Fowler for her legacy, as "Marcy Hobart."

"Col. David Hobart settled in that part of Hollis, N. H., known as 'One Pine Hill,' about 1748, and was a Sergeant in the company of Capt. Powers, in the French war, in 1755. He was one of the grantees of Plymouth, N. H., and one of the first settlers of that town. His name last appears on the Hollis tax lists, in 1765. In 1777, he was Colonel of the Twelfth New Hampshire regiment of militia, and had command of a New Hampshire regiment under Gen. Stark at the battle of Bennington, where he greatly distinguished himself for his gallantry and good conduct, for which he received due commendation from Gen. Stark, in his report of the battle. In that battle, Col. Hobart, with Col. [Thomas] Stickney, led the attack against the Tory breastwork on the right, where the contest was most desperate—the Tories it is said 'fighting like tigers,' and neither asking nor giving quarter. Col. Hobart having lost his [first] wife, after the war, removed to Haverhill, Mass., where he died 20 April, 1799. The name of this heroic officer is erroneously spelt 'Hubbard' in 'Belknap's History of New Hampshire,' as it also was said to have been in Gen. Stark's report of the battle."

170 John (John<sup>90</sup> John<sup>48</sup> Philip<sup>29</sup> Joseph<sup>6</sup> Philip<sup>1</sup>) was born in Ipswich, 10 Oct., 1750; baptized there, 14 Oct., 1750; married there, in Linebrook parish, 19 June, 1777, Sarah (Perkins) Abbott, who was born 13 Aug., 1755, the daughter of Thomas and Martha (Williams) Perkins of Topsfield, and the widow of John Abbott.

In 1775 (24 Jan.) he voluntarily enlisted as a minute man in Ipswich, and was on the roll of Ipswich company under Capt. Nathaniel Wade, 10 May, 1775, and served under him at the battle of Bunker Hill.

In 1776 (9 Jan.) he buys of his father, for £300, upland and meadow in Ipswich, with buildings thereon, and woodland in Rowley, when he is called "the 3d of Ipswich, yeoman."

In 1778 (1 Nov.) he was living in Linebrook parish, in Ipswich, and with his wife, owned the covenant of the church there. His wife was admitted 21 Sept., 1783, and dismissed to the church in Bridgton, Me., 19 April, 1810.

In 1784 (16 April) when junior, yeoman, of Ipswich, with wife Sarah, sells Elisha Perkins of Topsfield, and quits-claim to right in real estate of their father, Thomas Perkins, late of Topsfield, deceased. Witnessed by John Fowler, probably his father. They also sell him 23 Feb., 1810, when he is of Salem, land in Ipswich with buildings thereon, on the east side of Newburyport turnpike. They sell Thomas Perkins, junior, of Topsfield, 26 March, 1805, their right in land and buildings assigned to their late mother, Martha Potter, deceased, as her dower, who was the late widow of Anthony Potter, deceased, and who before she was the wife of said Anthony, was the widow of Thomas Perkins, late of Ipswich, deceased, in the estate of said Perkins, deceased. Witnessed by John Fowler, junior, his son. They also sell him saltmarsh in Ipswich, 13 April, 1810.

In 1789 (6 May) he buys of widow Abigail Smith, of Ipswich, her right in estate of Capt. Isaac Davis, late of Ipswich, deceased, except her right in pew and burying place; 18 June, he buys of Joseph Fowler, junior, and Lydia, his wife [151] with others, the right they have in the real estate of Davis above; and 29 June, the right of James Davis of Davistown, Lincoln county, Mass.

In 1792 (28 Aug.) a partition of land in Ipswich, was made to Abraham How, junior, John Fowler, junior, and Allen Perley, junior, which they held in common with certain minor heirs of Nathaniel Perley, deceased.

In 1792 (8 Dec.) Lieut. John Fowler, of Ipswich, gentleman, buys of Daniel Foster of Ipswich, for £21-18-0, part of west meadow in Ipswich, which he sells 10 May, 1805, to Thomas Manning, physician, when the boundary is on the north by Jedediah Jewett Calef's land. Witnessed by Martha Fowler, his daughter.

In 1809 (9 Sept.) sells Amos Wildes of Topsfield, land in Ipswich. Witnessed by his daughter, Polly Fowler.

In 1809 (2 Oct.) he administered on the estate of his son John, late of Newburyport, deceased.

He with Charles Davis, Charles Davis, junior, late of Ipswich, now of Davistown, and William Conant, was a defendant, in a case commenced in 1803, against Allen Foster, plaintiff, to recover damages, for suit instituted by said Foster, for cutting grass on a piece of land, which he alleged to have owned, but which they proved he did not. The suit terminated in 1809.

In 1810 (4 April) he sells William Conant, William Conant, junior, and Daniel Conant, all of Ipswich, 90 acres of land and buildings in Ipswich, in Linebrook parish, bounding east on the road from Ipswich to Boxford, and land of William Conant, south on road to land of Elisha Perkins, west on Perkins land to Newburyport turnpike, west on turnpike to Joseph Chaplin's land, northwest on Joseph and Moses Chaplin, to Long Hill pasture, east and north on said pasture, east and south on Conant to road. Also  $6\frac{1}{2}$  acres of meadow on turnpike.

In 1810 (5 Oct.) when of Bridgton, Cumberland Co., Me., and gentleman, sells thatch bank in Ipswich, to Jacob Towne, junior, of Topsfield, and Sarah, his wife, releases dower.

In 1823 (18 April) when of Bridgton, with wife Sarah, gives a deed of gift to daughter Martha, wife of Jesse Dodge of Hamilton, of saltmarsh and thatch bank on Rogers Island, and at Shad creek, Rowley. Witnesses, Nathan Church, junior, David Fowler, his son.

He removed to Bridgton, Me., from Ipswich, about the 19 April, 1810, where he continued to reside until his decease on the 17 Nov., 1824, and his widow also died 14 April, 1851.

The children of John and Sarah (Perkins) (Abbott) Fow-Ler, were:—

<sup>289.</sup> Sarah, b. 6 May, 1781; m. Jedediah J. Calef.

- 290. Perkins, b. 29 Dec., 1783; bapt. Jan., 1784; d. 6 March, 1804.
- 291. Martha, b. 23 May, 1786; m. Jesse Dodge, 25 Dec., 1806.
- 292. Gilbert, b. 2 Feb., 1789; bapt. June, 1789; d. 16 April, 1804.
- 293. David, b. 31 Oct., 1791; m. Jane W. Wetherbee.
- 294. Mary, b. 19 Nov., 1794; m. Nathan Church.
- 295. Betty, b. 28 Nov., 1799; probably never married.

171 Elizabeth (John<sup>90</sup> John<sup>48</sup> Philip<sup>29</sup> Joseph<sup>6</sup> Philip<sup>1</sup>) was born in Ipswich, 10 Oct., 1750; baptized there 14 Oct., 1750; married in Topsfield, 23 June, 1773, Charles Davis, who was born in Topsfield, baptized there, 30 Dec., 1750, the son of Capt. Israel and Hannah (Metcalf) Davis.

Capt. Israel Davis was baptized in Rowley, 7 April, 1728, and when under eighteen years of age, was a soldier before Louisburg, and one of the brave men who volunteered under Capt. Daniel Bacon, to attack the Island Battery 26 May, 1745, in which attempt, many were killed or made prisoners, but after a siege of forty-nine days, on the 17 June, 1745, Louisburg and the island of Cape Breton capitulated, but it was returned to France on the Treaty of Peace, 7 Oct., 1748. He was a lieutenant in a company raised in Rowley, commanded by Capt. Thomas Gage, and did duty at Lake George from 7 Aug., to Oct., 1755. In November, Gage was promoted to the rank of major, and Davis to that of captain. He was captain of a company in the Third Regiment under Col. Thomas Berry, in the expedition to Crown Point, 15 April, 1756, and served under him at Fort William Henry, from 9 Aug., to 12 Oct., 1756. In service again from 12 Feb., 1757, and was captain in Col. Joseph Frye's regiment, May, 1757, and marched to the relief of, and was in Fort William Henry when it capitulated to Montcalm, 9 Aug., 1757. (For an account of the massacre that ensued, see a communication by the writer, in Essex Institute's Historical Collections, 1861 page 79).

He escaped to Fort Edward and continued in service to 23 Dec., following. Served as captain in Col. Jonathan Bagley's regiment at Ticonderoga in 1758, also under him at Louisburg from 2 Nov., 1759 to 14 Aug., 1761, and assisted in demolishing its fortifications.

After his marriage in Topsfield 20 March, 1750, he remained there until 1758, his wife having died 20 July, 1753, when he removed to Danvers, which he left soon after 1763, and 20 Sept., 1767, was of Boothbay, Me., when he was chosen deacon of Rev. John Murray's church, a Presbyterian society there, and had charge of the western district. In the Revolutionary war he served as captain in Edward Wigglesworth's battalion, from 31 March, 1777 to 30 June, 1777. The time of his death has not been ascertained. He was a brave officer, and served his King in the old French war, and his country in the Revolution, with honor.

Charles Davis was the grandson of Nathan (b. in Rowley 15 June, 1701) and Mary (Davis) Davis, int. of m. 13 June, 1724. She was born 27 Feb., 1706–7, the daughter of Elder James and Abigail (Metcalf) Davis. He died 2 June, 1776; the great-grandson of Cornelius (born in Newbury, 15 April, 1653) and Elizabeth (Jewett) (Hidden) Davis, married 24 Aug., 1696. She died 14 Sept., 1728. He lived in Rowley, was a soldier in the Narragansett war, and died 16 March, 1731; the great-grandson of John Davis, an early settler and proprietor of Newbury, said to be from Marlborough, England. (For fuller record of the Davis family, see Stickney Genealogy, page 504.)

Charles Davis with his wife Elizabeth, soon after their marriage, owned the covenant at the church in Topsfield, 3 April, 1774. He was a farmer and resided in Topsfield (where all his children were born), and Ipswich.

The 24 Jan., 1783, he purchased of Simeon Safford of Ipswich, 59 acres of land and buildings on the country road from Ipswich to Andover, bounding on Joseph Metcalf and Dr. John Calef, also thatch bank at Rogers Island in Ipswich, and northeast pew in Linebrook parish meeting-house. One of the witnesses was his brother-in-law, John Fowler. He sells this estate to Benjamin Scott of Rowley.

In 1787 (26 Feb.) when of Ipswich, yeoman, buys of Nathaniel Low of Topsfield, 9 acres of land in Topsfield, near where the dwelling house formerly was; and the same date, of Samuel Low of Ipswich, 40 acres of upland and meadow in Topsfield, with dwelling house and barn by the brook, bounding on land of Moses Conant and Dudley Wildes; which purchases he sells 18 Dec., 1798, to David Hobbs, junior, of Topsfield, when one of the witnesses was Dudley Stickney, his son-in-law.

In 1798 (23 March) when of Topsfield, yeoman, in his right as an heir to the estate of Huldah Cutler, wife of James Cutler, late of Salem, deceased, and as an attorney for his sister Sarah Decker of Edgecomb, County of Lincoln, widow, they being sole heirs to one-third part of said estate, accruing by descent from our mother Sarah Davis, deceased, who was sister to Huldah Cutler, for $100 sell Samuel Very of Salem, their share, which Huldah Cutler held by deed from George West, in common and undivided, on a street or land from Buffum's corner to the Great Pasture.

In 1798 (30 Dec.) when of Ipswich, buys for $1200 of Jeremiah and Mary Staniford of Ipswich (see p. 102), 105 acres of land in Ipswich, bounding on Capt. Benjamin Scott's and Samuel Sawyer's, to Bull Brook pasture, to Rowley pasture, on land of William Conant, and Joseph Metcalf; also 3 acres of meadow bounding on Dr. John Calef's and Joseph Metcalf's; another 3 acres of meadow bounding on said Calef's and Rindge's; and 6 acres of meadow and swamp in Ipswich.

In 1804 (12 Dec.) he sells a portion of the above farm, for $1458.70 to Allen Perley of Ipswich, yeoman, his brother-in law (see p. 109) "the farm on which I now live, with the house and barn thereon and appurtenances thereunto belonging, containing about eighty-three acres be the same more or less, bounded as follows, viz. : - beginning at a stake and stones at the most westwardly corner, from thence running southeastwardly by land of William Conant as the stone wall now stands to land of Joseph Metcalf, thence eastwardly, southeastwardly and northeastwardly by lands of Joseph Metcalf, Lord, and of Benjamin Scott, as the fence now stands to land of Samuel Sawyer, from thence northwestwardly and northeastwardly by said Sawyer's land as the fence now stands to Bull Brook pasture, from thence northwestwardly by said pasture to Rowley pasture from thence westwardly by Rowley pasture to land of William Conant, from thence southwardly and southwestwardly as the fence now stands and by said Conant's land to a bound tree, and from thence southwestwardly by said Conant's land as the stone wall now stands to bound first mentioned."

In 1804 (20 Dec.) he sells Jabez Farley, for $60, three acres of meadow ground in Ipswich, bounding on that of Dr. John Calef, Rindge, and Joseph Metcalf. One of the witnesses was Jedediah J. Calef.

In 1805 (1 April) he sells Dr. Thomas Manning 7 acres 34 poles of meadow and swamp land, when one of the witnesses was Dudley Stickney.

In 1805 (9 May) he with his wife Elizabeth receipted to her brother John Fowler, for her share of her father's estate.

In 1817 (28 June) "Charles Davis of Montville, County of Lincoln, Mass., yeoman," for $60 sells William Conant, junior, of Ipswich, gentleman, 3 acres of thatch ground in Ipswich, "at a place called holy Island," bounding on the heirs of David Mighill, Allen Foster, southeast by creek parting said bank and Davis knobbs so called, to the river, etc., it being the bounds established after the lawsuit with Allen Foster. The witnesses were Joseph and William Conant.

He purchased a new tract of land in the vicinity of Belfast, Me., on which he settled in 1805. It was long known as Davistown, but was incorporated as Montville, Me., in 1807. He prospered and left many descendants. His wife died in 1805, aged 55 years. He died in 1829.

The descendants of Charles and Elizabeth (Fowler) Davis, were:—

296. ELIZABETH (the author's mother), b. 20 May, 1774; m. in Topsfield, by Rev. Asahel Huntington, 2 March, 1797, to Dudley Stickney, who was b. in Rowley, 11 May, 1774, the son of Jedediah and Sarah (Stickney) Stickney, of Rowley, whose line of ancestry is:—Samuel and Faith (Platts) Stickney; Benjamin and Mary (Palmer) Stickney; Amos and Sarah (Morse) Stickney; William and Elizabeth Stickney, the emigrant ancestors to New England 1634. She d. in Belfast, Me., 25 Oct., 1808. From one that knew her, we learn that:—"She was a person of good judgment, a wise calculator, good and honest in her dealings, kind and affectionate to her friends, a most excellent wife and mother. Added to all her other virtues I believe she was a sincere christian, she made public profession of religion, and joined Rev. Isaac Braman's church, July 6, 1800. She gave particular directions respecting her funeral, and died in peace in the thirty-fifth year of her age. She was not above the middle stature, very slender, her complexion very fair and delicate, her features rather large, her hair light brown, large bright blue eyes, her countenance open, artless, and when lighted up with a smile perfectly pleasing and engaging, her voice clear and pleasant, her speech good, her actions rapid but easy."

They resided at first in Topsfield, afterwards in Rowley, but in 1806 removed to Belfast, Maine, where he had purchased an estate, and engaged in shipping lumber to Salem and Newburyport, his brother Solomon Stickney of Rowley, having the disposal of it. He was also the owner of large real estate which he had bought of Gen. Henry Knox and others, in Green's Plantation, so called, to which, in consequence of the obstruction to trade caused by the War of 1812, he retired, and with others, procured its incorporation in 1814, by the name of Belmont, and was that year commissioned by Gov. Caleb Strong, its first Justice of the Peace, and was an acting magistrate for fourteen years. He removed in 1826 from Belmont to Hartford, County of Oxford, Maine, where he resided until his decease, 20 May, 1834, on which occasion a funeral sermon was delivered. He is said to have been "a man of strict integrity and lived an active and enterprising life. He was tall, well proportioned, of a light complexion, auburn hair and blue eves."

Their two children were: - Dudley, b. in Topsfield, 4 Nov., 1798; removed with his father to Belfast, Maine, was a student at the Belfast Academy until 14 Oct., 1815, and fitted himself for a mercantile life, when he visited Rowley, and became a clerk and assistant in the store of his nucle Solomon Stickney. At the age of fourteen he commenced a journal, which was continued until the close of life, and frequently contributed articles to the newspapers under the signature of "Alpha," mostly in the cause of seamen, in whose welfare he was greatly interested, often conducting service for them at the Salem Seamen's Bethel. He united with the Congregational Church in Byfield, 17 Sept., 1820. During this year and the following, he attended Dummer Academy, under the preceptorship of Hon. Samuel Adams, intending to prepare for College and devote his life to the sacred ministry. While there he was instrumental in forming a Society, to be called "The Religious Society of Dummer Academy." He was of a delicate physical constitution, predisposed to consumption, and his intense application to his studies caused a dangerous sickness, which obliged him to relinquish all thoughts of obtaining a collegiate education. He, however, so far recovered his health as to be able to teach school in Bradford and Essex, where he made the acquaintance which ended in a life-long friendship with the Hon. David and Rufus Choate, boarding with the latter when he first commenced the practice of law in Danvers, now Peabody. On the 28th of July, 1823, he became an instructor in the first District School in Danvers, where he continued until May, 1828, when failing health compelled him to resign and remove to Portsmouth, N. H., where he opened At the urgent solicitation of his friends he relinquished his business in Portsmouth, and returned to Danvers in the fall of 1828, where he resumed the instruction of his former school. He was chosen President of the Danvers Lyceum at its organization, and delivered among others, the introductory address, 16 Dec., 1828. He died, unmarried, of consumption, 30 Oct., 1829, at the residence of his uncle in Rowley, after a sickness of a few weeks. At his funeral, from Byfield Church, on the 3 Nov., a discourse was delivered by the Rev. John P. Cleaveland, pastor of the Tabernacle Church in Salem. A marble tablet marks his grave in Byfield Cemetery. The following was received by his family:-"To The Family of Mr. Dudley Stickney late of Danvers. At a late meeting of the Danvers Lyceum, held on Tuesday evening 3d inst., the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:-

Whereas, The Danvers Lyceum from its commencement has enjoyed the instructions, and profited by the knowledge of their late President, who by years of arduous exertions and by the possession of experience, talents, and industry, had become particularly qualified for the duties of an instructor.

And whereas, it has pleased Divine Providence to remove this individual from life, the officers and members of the Lyceum, in justice to their own feelings, would pay the tribute of high respect for his character, and grateful recollections of his useful services. Therefore Resolved—

That the Lyceum deeply sympathise with his friends, and the community, in the loss of a public teacher, whose reputation and worth as a successful instructor, and as a virtuous and active member of society, are universally acknowledged, and that they will cherish the memory of one who has contributed so much to the improvement of Education and the advancement of Science.

Resolved, That this expression of our views and feelings be inserted upon the Records of the Lyccum.

Copy from the records of the Danvers Lyceum. Danvers, Nov., 16, 1829. J. B. Peirce.—Secty."

Obituary notices of him appeared in the New Hampshire

Observer, of Portsmouth, and other papers and magazines, from one of which is quoted the following:—

"Of Mr. Stickney, it may justly be said, that as a faithful, able and popular teacher; as an ardent, trustworthy and judicious friend; as a devoted, intelligent and amiable disciple of Jesus Christ; in short, as a diligent, and successful student in practical science, morals and religion, few persons deservedly held a higher rank in the estimation of those who knew him, and who now deeply deplore his early removal."

<sup>2</sup>Matthew Adams, born in the first parish of Rowley, 23 Sept., 1805; baptized in the second parish by Rev. Ebenezer Dutch of Bradford, 15 Dec., 1805; married in South Danvers, now Salem, by Rev. William Williams, 17 April, 1833, to Mary Elizabeth Smith, who was born in Salem, 17 Dec., 1810, the eldest daughter of Caleb and Betsey (Winchester) Smith, and died there 9 May, 1834, buried in Harmony Grove Cemetery.

He married second in Salem, by Rev. John Wayland, D. D., 25 Dec., 1838, Lucy Waters, who was born there 10 Nov., 1816, the daughter of John<sup>6</sup> and Eleanor (Shales) Waters, and died 13 Feb., 1847, buried in Harmony Grove cemetery.

She was a descendant in the seventh generation from William<sup>1</sup> and Elizabeth Waters, emigrant and householder in Boston, 1652, through William<sup>2</sup> and Abigail; William<sup>3</sup> and Rebecca (Worthylake); Seward<sup>4</sup> and Sarah (Porter); Ebenezer<sup>5</sup> and Mary (Calef) Waters, all of Boston.

On his mother's decease, he found a home in Rowley with his grandparents Jedediah and Sarah Stickney, and was designed for college, but continual ill health in childhood and youth prevented attendance.

The only school education received was from that kept in the district, three months in the most inclement season of the year, but from an intelligent family, whose home was well stored with books, and from his brother Dudley, received such an education as permitted an entrance to a merchant's counting room, and enough of Latin to assist in deciphering the inscriptions on coins and medals.

In 1827 he left Rowley and entered the store of Sanger and Peirce, dealers in West India goods and country produce, at 138 Main street, South Danvers, now Peabody, near the bounds of Salem, where he continued until 1829, when he opened a similar store on his own account, at what is now 121 Central street, Peabody, but in 1832 bought the stock and stand of Caleb Smith, then 106 Boston street, Salem, where he had conducted an extensive business from 1807, married his daughter in 1833, and resided in the westerly half of Ichabod Nichols' house, next door, where she was born and died. he purchased the estate of Major Jacob B. Winchester (his grandfather by marriage), situated 119 Boston street, Salem, midway between Salem Court House and Peabody Institute, and married the same year Lucy Waters, here his children were born, and wife died, and he still resides. In 1854 retired with a competence from business and has since devoted his time to literary pursuits.

An early perusal of Goldsmith's "Animated Nature," led to an interest in birds and the collection of their eggs, which consisted before ten years of age, of nearly two thousand, which were strung and festooned his chamber in the old mansion house of his ancestors, erected in 1735, by his great-grandfather Samuel Stickney, in a valley, near a river which flowed at the base of Long Hill, and carried their mills, and was a part of the original possession of the first emigrant William Stickney of Rowley. This old dwelling contained many memorials of the past which had been carefully preserved and handed down from one generation to another. Ancient furniture, some of it said to have been brought from England, wedding dresses from 1700, and wedding rings, among them that of his mother, a plain gold band with motto inside, "True hearts never part," another before her marriage, "No star so bright as my delight, Love," with her own gold necklace, all still in his possession; also the gold necklace of her mother Elizabeth (Fowler) Davis, family records, with coins and paper money received by his grandfather Stickney for his wages during the Revolutionary war, given him with their history, and now form the nucleus of a collection which he has since completed and owns, of every denomination of value, type and date, issued by the Continental Congress, and of which, only two such collections are known. He has also a very full collection of the colonial issues from their earliest date, 1690.

A parcel of coins, the playthings of his youth, developed the desire which he has since gratified, of collecting cabinets of ancient and modern coins, medals, etc. (still in his possession), which are very extensive and valuable, particularly those of Great Britain, and this country previous to the establishment of the United States mint in 1793, its issues since, and proof sets from 1845. Notices of these collections have been given by various writers. Dr. Dickeson in his work published in 1860, in Philadelphia, Pa., gives an account and engravings of some of his rare American specimens. In the American Journal of Numismatics, published in 1867 in New York city, is a notice of his priceless United States dollar of 1804, and mention of some of his rare pieces in Crosby's exhaustive and reliable work on coins, published in 1873 in Boston.

The reading of Mather's "Magnalia" led to a taste for New England history and the collecting of all early printed works on the subject, and they form the germ of his present library. The account given in it of the Indians, and what his grandfather Stickney related of them, having barely escaped death from them when a soldier in the old French war under Capt. Israel Davis (his great-grandfather), in the massacre which followed the capitulation of Fort William Henry to Montcalm, 1757, caused him to collect Indian relics which he frequently found when cultivating the land, and obtained from families in the vicinity.

He has a collection of almanaes commencing in 1666, printed at Cambridge, Mass., and of New England authors probably more complete than any other. Also autograph letters of the Signers of the Declaration of Independence, of Washington and his generals, statesmen and officers of the Revolution, many of the French officers on public service, and family papers.

He became a member of the Danvers Lyceum on its establishment in 1828; of the Salem Lyceum in 1832; Essex Historical Society, Salem, 1843; was a trustee in 1846-48, and on this institution being merged with that of the Essex Institute, Salem, in 1848, was elected a curator of its historical department, 1848-50, 1856-82. Librarian, 1850-56.

Elected a corresponding member of the New England Historic, Genealogical Society, Boston, 7 April, 1847.

Fellow of the American Statistical Association, Boston, 13 Oct., 1847-82. Member of the Congregational Library Association, Boston, 10 June, 1853. Corresponding member of the Vermont State Historical Society, St. Albans, Vt., in 1859; of the Wisconsin State Historical Society, Madison, Wis., in 1868; of the American Numismatic and Archæological Society, New York city, N. Y., 14 Nov., 1867; Rowley Historical Society, Rowley, Mass., 31 Dec., 1875.

Honorary member of the New England Numismatic and Archæological Society, Boston, 22 June, 1866.

In 1859 he commenced publishing in the Essex Institute Historical Collections, a series of ten articles:—"Notes on American Currency;" "Copy of the First Book of Births, Marriages, Burials and Deaths of the Town of Rowley, Essex County, Mass., commencing 1639, with Notes," for the first hundred years; "Almanacs and their Authors," Low, Pope, Hall, George and Ames, complete sets of which are in his possession. Has also contributed articles to the "New England Historical and Genealogical Register," and the "American Jonrnal of Numismatics." Has conducted a large correspondence since 1830, on numismatics, almanacs, autographs and genealogy, copies of which, with their replies (some eight thousand in number) are in bound volumes in his library.

At his suggestion a granite obelisk was erected in Rowley, over the grave of his emigrant ancestor, William Stickney, in 1865, on the two hundredth anniversary of his death, the superintendence of which was left to him, and the expense shared by Josiah Stickney of Boston and Joseph Henry Stickney of Baltimore, Md.

About this time he commenced preparing for publication, the Stickney genealogy which was printed in 1869 at his solerisk, and has proved a successful undertaking. Its title is "The Stickney Family, a Genealogical Memoir of the Descendants of William and Elizabeth Stickney, from 1637-1869," with an appendix containing genealogies of the Burpee, Davis and Fowler families. It contains the engraved arms, seven portraits (among them the authors), two plates of the monument and a mansion, five hundred thirty-four pages, five hundred copies. since 1869, collected the records of Robert Calef, senior, of Boston, 1688, author of "More Wonders of the Invisible World," and his descendants to the present time, also the same of William Waters, a householder of Boston in 1652. These two genealogies would make a work of over six hundred pages in print and is in form for publication. Robert Calef and William Waters were the ancestors of his living children. He is the author of this work. His four children were:—(1)Dudley, b. 7 May, 1834; died the same day. (2)Sarah Elizabeth, b. 12 Oct., 1839. In the fall of 1833 when seventeen years of age, he left Rowley to seek employment in Boston, but after a stay of only two months, went to Liberty, Me., to engage in the manufacture of boots and shoes. He bought a small farm which he soon sold, and then purchased land, and erected a dwelling house, store and buildings for that business, which he carried on successfully for five or six years. then removed to Sebec, Me., where he bought a farm of two hundred acres and remained till 1858, having a part of the farm under cultivation, and devoting a portion to the raising of stock, keeping a large flock of sheep. In 1852 he took a trip to California, purchased and for the first six months worked a mining claim in El Dorado County, but not meeting with much success, he became a partner of a Mr. Hilton (formerly of Yarmouth, N. S.), in the manufacture of boots and shoes, and rented his claim. His partner removing to another part of the county, he continued for over two years at what was then called Upper John town, near Sutter's Mills. commenced the purchase of gold dust, sending it to the U.S. Mint at San Francisco by Wells and Fargo (their clerk then being the now Hon. 178 Sarah (Philip<sup>102</sup> Philip<sup>51</sup> Philip<sup>29</sup> Joseph<sup>6</sup> Philip<sup>1</sup>) was born in New Market, N. H., 22 June, 1762; m. there 12 Feb., 1788, William Plumer of Epping, N. H., who was born in Newbury, 25 June, 1759, the son of Samuel and Mary (Dole) Plumer.

He removed with his parents to Epping, N. H., in 1768, where he remained until his death. His first public employment was in the humble yet not unimportant offices of his adopted town, whose affairs he managed for many years, to its general satisfaction. He was elected to the Legislature, as a member of the House of Representatives in 1785, 1788, 1790, 1791, 1797, 1798, 1800, and 1801. He was two years Speaker of the House, and also for two years President of the Senate, in 1810 and 1811. He was admitted to the Bar in 1787, and continued in the practice of the law till 1809. In 1791 and 1792 he was a member of the Convention which formed the present Constitution of the State. He was for some years Solicitor for the county of Rockingham, which office he resigned on being elected to the Senate of the United States, 17 June 1802, which office he held till 3 March, 1807. In 1812, he was chosen Governor of New Hampshire, which office he also held in 1816, 1817 and 1818. He was one of the Presidential Electors in 1820, which was his last public employment. His health had become, about this time, very seriously impaired, and he declined ever after being a candidate for any office. In the seclusion of a country residence, surrounded by his family and his friends, he found for nearly thirty years his chief occupation and his greatest pleasure in the quiet pursuits of literature. He gave occasionally to the public some of the fruits of his studies, in the periodicals of the day; and a series of papers, under the signature of "Cincinnattus," had a wide circulation and were much admired. The larger portion, however, of his writings, remain in manuscript, though even what was published would form several volumes.

He was an Honorary Member of the Mass. Historical Society, of the American Antiquarian Society, of the Danish Antiquarian Society, of the New Hampshire Historical Society, (of which he was the first President), and of various literary and other associations.

"The career of Gov. Plumer was exceptional. As we have seen, he was essentially a self-made man; he was also well-made. He entered his profession late in life, and had unusual success; he filled a long term of public office with increasing influence and usefulness to the last.

He was an original and cautious observer, and his information was extensive and practical. He was sincere and fearless in the discharge of duty and in the expression of his convictions; humane to man and beast, and fond of the society of both young and old, to whose enjoyments he contributed by unostentatious wisdom and vivacity of his conversation and the kindness of his manners.

In person, he was tall and erect, his complexion dark, his face rather long and thin, his hair black, and his eyes black and sparkling, with a look and a smile, when he was pleased himself, or would please others, expressive of the most winning good will.

In old age, his thin grey locks, the mild fire of his eye, and the smile on his lips, gave him a beauty and a grandeur at once conciliatory and commanding."

He died in Epping, 22 Dec., 1850, in the 92d year of his age. For his portrait and an interesting account of his life, see N. E. Hist. Gen. Register, 1871. His widow died 1 April, 1852.

"Mrs. Plnmer was distinguished for all the domestic virtues, while her solid good sense, her native kindness and gentleness, and her cordial hospitality, won the respect and affection of the many acquaintances, visitors, and guests, who thronged their house while her husband was in public and active life, and continued to resort to it till, with the infirmities of a tardy old age, came the necessity for repose and quiet."

The descendants of William and Sarah (Fowler) Plumer, were:—

303. William, b. in Epping, 9 Feb., 1789; m. 13 Sept., 1820, Margaret Frost Mead, who was b. 9 Dec., 1794, the daughter of Jeremiah and Mary (Frost) Mead of New Market. At the age of thirteen, he entered Phillips Exeter Academy to be prepared for college and was admitted to Harvard in 1805, and maintained his place among the highest scholars of his class, graduating in 1809. Immediately after taking his degree he commenced the study of law with his father. He was a diligent student, and it is believed that few of his coëvals became more thoroughly conversant with ancient or modern history, or with the classics of English literature in every age. In 1812, he returned to Cambridge to take his second degree, on which occasion he delivered the English oration. In the autumn of 1812, he made his first appearance as a political orator at a Republican Convention in Kingston, and was also admitted to the bar. The greater part of the four following years, he spent at Epping, engaged in study, occasionally writing for public journals and sometimes appearing with credit to himself and advantage to his cause, at political meetings. In the summer of 1816 he was appointed Commissioner of Loans for New Hampshire by the general government, and removed to Portsmouth to enter upon his new duties. He held this office for eighteen months, when it was abolished, and he returned to Epping. In 1818 he was elected to represent his native town in the Legislature. He at once became a leading member, bore a prominent part in the principal debates, and took the initiative in several important measures. At that session he was nominated as a Representative to Congress, was elected in the following spring, and reëlected for the two subsequent terms, thus serving in three successive Congresses. In the 17th Congress he served as Chairman of the Committee on the Judiciary. In 1824, he was chosen United States Senator on the part of New Hampshire Senate, but in the House of Representatives there was no choice, and in the next Legislature the two Houses united on another candidate. While in Congress he formed an intimacy, which lasted through their respective lives, with John Quincy Adams and Daniel Webster. With the inauguration of Mr. Adams as President, his life at Washington terminated. In 1827 and 1828 he was a member of the New Hampshire Senate, but declined being a candidate for a third term. He represented New Hampshire at the Centennial Celebration at Cambridge. He officiated as Chairman of the Committee for the Abbott Festival at Exeter. He responded, in behalf of the invited guests, to Mr. Webster's greeting, at the First Festival of the Sons of New Hampshire. He was President of the Trustees of the New Hampshire Insane Asylum. In the autumn of 1850, he took his seat as a member of the Convention for revising the Constitution of New Hampshire, and it is believed that no member exerted a stronger influence than he, or was regarded as his superior in political experience and wisdom, in conversance with constitutional history and precedent, or in weight of argument as a debater. He was admitted to corresponding membership in the N. E. Hist. Gen. Society, 7 July, 1845. The leisure of his latter years was principally devoted to the preparation of the excellent biography of his father. He died 18 Sept., 1854, after a short illness, and his widow survives him. His was a character which most impressed those who knew him best. Modest and unambitious, he shrank from notoriety, and was seen in public only when sought out and drawn from his retirement. His mind was rich and full, accurate in fact, sound in opinion, weighty in influence. His moral tastes and sensibilities were eminently true, pure and delicate. From youth to age, his life was governed by the severest principle, and might have challenged the closest scrutiny. His friendships were strong, and he cherished no enmities. None knew him but to respect him; none shared his intimacy without holding him in the most affectionate regard. As a neighbor and a citizen, he was a peace-maker, a stedfast friend of improvement and progress, a counsellor and helper in every good work, a consistent and judicious advocate of whatever could make those around him happier and better. He possessed the graces and amenities of domestic life, and was signally blessed in his domestic relations. He was a Christian in belief, practice and spirit, and was not only a daily reader of the Scriptures but a diligent and critical student of the Divine Word."

The author has availed himself of a sketch of William Plumer, jr., written by Rev. Andrew P. Peabody, from which the above extracts are taken.

Another personal friend adds, "that William Plumer, jr., was quite tall, and more resembled William H. Seward in the cast and expression of his head and face than any public man I ever knew. His conversational powers were quite remarkable; he would greatly interest every one who listened to him. You may think Dr. Peabody's sketch of Mr. Plumer is too eulogistic, but I think Mr. Plumer was as nearly perfect as any man I ever knew, and that the picture of his life and character is not overdrawn. His widow is still living (1882) at the age of 85 or 86 I think, and a splendid specimen of the old-school lady." (See also the N. E. Hist. Gen. Register of 1855, p. 102.)

The author was promised his portrait and that of his father Gov. Plumer, for this work, but it has since been ascertained that the steel plates were destroyed in the great fire in Boston, of 1872. His three children were: - 1 Mary Elizabeth, b. 6 Jan., 1822; unm., resides in Epping. 2William, b. 29 Nov., 1823; graduated Harvard College, 1845; entered the law school then in charge of Judge Story, and was admitted to the bar in 1848; married in Lexington, 2 Oct., 1850, Emily Josephine Lord, the daughter of Joseph H. and Judith (Mansfield) Lord of Salem; granddaughter of Ellis and Abigail (Herbert) Mansfield (see p. 97). During the Civil War, he entered the service of the United States, and commanded a company of sharpshooters, received an injury at the Battle of Gettysburg, which obliged him to leave the service. - 465. Edward, b. 28 March, 1811, in Salem; m. in Epping, N. H., in 1835, Elizabeth Ann Dow, and has deceased. Their children were:— ¹Edward Stearns, b. in Danvers, 16 March, 1836; m. ²Sarah Ellen, b. 28 Feb., 1838; m. Charles Jacobs of Peabody, and resides in Chicago, Ill.
- 240 Mary (Samuel<sup>152</sup> Joseph<sup>87</sup> Joseph<sup>47</sup> Philip<sup>29</sup> Joseph<sup>6</sup> Philip<sup>1</sup>) was born in Danvers, 9 Jan., 1787; baptized 28 Jan., 1787; married 12 Dec., 1805, John Page, who was born in Danvers, 22 Jan., 1779, the son of Col. Jeremiah and Martha (Crosby) Page. They resided in Danvers. The following obituary appeared in the Salem Register:—
- "Died in North Danvers, 12 July, 1854, Mr. John Page, 75 yrs. 6 mos. He retained the confidence of the community in which he resided during his long and useful career, filled various offices of trust, and was a member of the Constitutional Convention for 1820. He lived and died sustaining a character for integrity and honesty, leaving a large circle of friends to mourn his departure."

Of his widow in the Danvers Mirror, the following:-

"Mrs. Mary Page, who died last Sabbath [17 Dec., 1876], widow of the late John Page, Esq., had attained the great age of eighty-nine years, eleven months and eight days, having lived nearly seventy years in the house where she died, which was formerly the residence of Col. Jeremiah Page of Revolutionary memory. She left a numerous posterity, and of her descendants now living there are five children, twenty grandchildren, and twenty-one great grandchildren. Mrs. Page was distinguished in her youth for fine personal appearance, which she retained, in a remarkable degree, in her old age. She was a lady of more than ordinary intelligence, and of extensive reading which she enjoyed to the latest period of her life. Unlike most aged people, her thoughts and conversation were not wholly confined to the past; and her fondness for discoursing upon the topics of the present day, with her knowledge of books and their authors, her pleasant voice and clear enunciation, made her an agreeable companion for young persons of both sexes, with whose company she was always pleased. To those who wished to know of the past, the treasures of her well-stored memory were always cheerfully imparted. She was charitable to the poor without ostentation, and the sick and suffering were often the recipients of her bounty. She was beloved and respected, not only by her immediate relatives, but by friends and neighbors, and many pleasant memories will be associated with her name.

In her last moments, she expressed confidence that the loving kindness of her Heavenly Father, who had protected her through her long life, would still continue to be with her, beyond the valley of the shadow of death."

From her, sometime previous to her decease, valuable information was obtained for this work.

355 Asa (Benjamin<sup>202</sup> Symonds<sup>111</sup> Philip<sup>51</sup> Philip<sup>29</sup> Joseph<sup>6</sup> Philip<sup>1</sup>) was born in Pembroke, N. H., 23 Feb., 1811; married in Epsom, N. Joseph Cilley, of the Revolution; Mrs. Knox having been the daughter of Gen. Cilley's son Daniel by his wife Hannah (Plumer) Cilley, a sister of Gov. William Plumer.

Mrs. Fowler died at her home in Concord, "11 Oct., 1882, after a long and distressing illness of several months. She was a woman of superior intelligence, sound judgment and remarkable energy. She took a deep interest in all public affairs, personally organizing and directing fair after fair in aid of the Concord Public Library, the Unitarian Society of Concord, of which she was an active member, and other public enterprises. She was the efficient manager for Merrimack county in the effort of the women of the country to save Mount Vernon to the nation, and under her skilful management the capital of New Hampshire contributed more than its full share to the success of that undertaking. Her home was for many years the chief gathering place of a literary circle. Her domestic relations were ever of the pleasantest character. She was the very best and most devoted of wives and mothers. 'Her children rise up and call her blessed; her husband also, and he praiseth her.' Her own family and intimate friends best knew her worth. She ever was a faithful mother, wife and woman."

I avail myself of a truthful sketch of the life of Judge Fowler, taken from "The Granite Monthly," published in Concord, N. H., Oct., 1880.

"Asa Fowler, the ninth of eleven children of Benjamin, was born in Pembroke, N. H., Feb. 23, 1811.

Yours truly, Asa Fowler,

His childhood was spent on his father's farm, his means of education after he was seven or eight years of age being limited to eight or nine weeks of winter school, his services after that age in summer being required in farm work. There were very few books to which he had access, except the Bible and ordinary school books, and his early reading was confined to these. At the age of fourteen he had a very severe attack of typhoid fever, which left him in such enfeebled condition as to be incapable of severe manual labor. Under these circumstances he was sent to the Blanchard Academy in his native town, then under the charge of the Hon. John Vose, but with no other intention than that he might become qualified to instruct a common district school. But with the opportunity to learn and to read, a desire for a liberal education was awakened, and by alternately working upon his father's farm in the spring and summer, attending the academy in the fall and teaching school in winter, he succeeded not only in fitting himself for college, but in preparing to enter the sophomore class, having attended school only sixty weeks after he commenced the study of Latin. With so meagre and defective a training, he entered the sophomore class at Dartmouth College, at the opening of the fall term, 1830, and although he taught school every winter, was able nevertheless to maintain a highly respectable standing until his graduation in 1833, when, among the parts assigned to the graduating class according to scholarship, an English oration was given him. He was never absent or unprepared at any recitation during his three years' course.

In his junior year he was elected a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society, as being in the first third of his class. He has never sought or received any honorary degree from his Alma Mater. After leaving college, he taught the Academy at Topsfield, Mass., for a single term in the fall of 1833, thereby raising sufficient funds to liquidate all indebtedness incurred to defray his college expenses, over and above what he received from his father's estate. Immediately upon leaving Topsfield, having determined to adopt the legal profession, he entered his name as a student in the office of James Sullivan, Esq., then in practice in Pembroke, occupying the office of Hon. Boswell Stevens, disabled by a paralytic attack from which he never recovered. He continued to read books from Mr. Sullivan's library through the following winter.

In March, 1834, he came to Concord, N. H., where he has since resided, and entered the office of the Hon. Charles H. Peaslee, then a rising young lawyer, and continued with him until admitted to the Merrimack County Bar in February, 1837. While a student in Gen. Peaslee's office, he and Hon. Moody Currier, then a teacher in Concord, undertook the editorship, as a matter of amusement and with no hope of pecuniary reward, of a small literary paper, called the Literary Gazette. It was published weekly for six months, and then once a fortnight for another six months. After Mr. Currier retired from the editorship, Cyrus P. Bradley, a youth of wonderful precocity, and the author, when a mere boy, of a life of Governor Isaac Hill, became associated with Mr. Fowler in the management of the Gazette. During a considerable portion of the period in which he pursued the study of the law, Mr. Fowler supported himself by writing for other papers. In June, 1835, he was elected clerk of the New Hampshire Senate, which office he continued to hold by annual elections for six successive years, discharging its duties to universal satisfaction.

In 1846 he was appointed by the Hon. Levi Woodbury, United States Commissioner for the District of New Hampshire, which office he has held ever since, except from May 1871, to May 1874. In 1845, he was a member of the New Hampshire House of Representatives from Concord, and served as chairman of the judiciary committee. Again in 1847 and 1848, he was one of the representatives of Concord in that body, and served upon the same committee in both years. In 1855 he was nominated by the Independent Democrats, or Free Soilers, as their candidate for Governor, and was frequently assured by prominent Know Nothings that if he would join their order he might and would be made their candidate, also; but he was deaf to all such suggestions.

After that party eame into power and decided to change the judiciary system of the state, he was engaged to draft the bill for that purpose which subsequently became a law. Afterwards, at the earnest and repeated solicitation of Gov. Metcalf, although at first he absolutely declined to do so, he accepted a position on the bench of the Supreme Court as associate justice, which he continued to hold, at a great pecuniary sacrifice, from Aug., 1, 1855, to Feb., 1, 1861, when he voluntarily resigned it.

During this period of five and a half years, he performed his full share of the arduous labors of a judge of our highest judicial tribunal, and gave general satisfaction to the bar and the public. If his opinions at the law terms as reported are not so labored as some of his associates, they are more numerous and not less sound and clear.

Immediately upon his resignation, Judge Fowler was appointed by the governor and council a delegate from New Hampshire to the famous Peace Congress, which met in Washington in February, 1861, for the purpose of averting, if possible, the threatened secession of the southern states from the Union, and continued its sessions through the entire month. His associate delegates were Hon. Levi Chamberlain of Keene, and Hon. Amos Tuck of Exeter. In 1861, he was appointed solicitor for the county of Merrimack, and held the office until he resigned in 1865, upon his being appointed one of the commissioners to revise the statutes of the state.

He was associated in that commission with Hon. Samuel D. Bell of Manchester, and Hon. George Y. Sawver of Nashua. Upon it he labored diligently and successfully, alone superintending the printing of the commissioners' report, and subsequently, the printing of the general statutes as finally adopted by the legislature of 1867. He also attended almost constantly, during the whole period of that legislature, upon the sessions of the joint select committee to whom the report of the commissioners was referred, and greatly aided in procuring the speedy action of that committee, and the final adoption of the report of the commissioners, as amended by the General Court, without protracting the session beyond its usual length. In 1871, and again in 1872, Judge Fowler was a member of the House of Representatives from Ward 6, in Concord, serving on the Judiciary Committee in 1871, and presiding over the deliberations of the House, as speaker, in 1872, with dignity, impartiality, and complete success.

Judge Fowler has been one of the most diligent, laborious and successful lawyers in the state, and the extent of his practice for many years has rarely been exceeded. In September, 1838, after practising alone for a year and a half, he formed a copartnership with the late President Pierce, which continued until April, 1845.

During this period of six years and a half, their practice was probably as extensive as that of any individual or firm in the state. Gen. Pierce engaged in the trial of causes as an advocate in nearly every county, while Judge Fowler attended chiefly to office business, the preparation of causes for trial, and briefs for argument at the law terms of court. Hon. John Y. Mugridge completed his preparatory studies in Judge Fowler's office, and upon his admission to the bar in 1854, Judge Fowler formed a business connection with him for one year, which expired about the time of Judge Fowler's appointment to the bench. Soon after his resignation of the judgeship, in 1861, he entered into partnership with Hon. William E. Chandler, which continued until Mr. Chandler's appointment as solicitor of the navy, in 1864.

During his long residence in Concord, Judge Fowler has been quite familiar with the forms of legislation, and has probably drafted more bills for our Legislature than any other man living or dead. He has originated many laws and procured their enactment, when not a member of the legislature. Among those thus originated and procured to be enacted, may be mentioned the statute authorizing school districts to unite for the purpose of maintaining high schools, and that authorizing towns to establish and maintain public libraries. worked zealously with Gen. Peaslee to secure the establishment of the Asylum for the Insane, was very active and persistent in securing the establishment of a public library in Concord, and a high school in Union district. He has always shown a deep interest in the cause of public education, and for more than twenty successive years served as prudential committee, or a member of the Board of Education in Concord. always been fond of literary pursuits, and has quite an extensive and well selected miscellaneous library. For the last three or four years he has belonged to a class in English literature, whose weekly meetings, during the winter season, have been devoted with much pleasure and profit to reading the works and discussing the lives, characters, and times of the English and American authors of reputation. He has been more or less connected with various moneyed institutions. He was a director of the State Capital Bank from its organization under a state charter until his appointment to the bench, when he resigned. He was a director and president of the First National Bank from its organization until he lost confidence in its cashier, when he disposed of his stock and resigned.

He has long been, and still is, a director of the Manchester and Lawrence Railroad, and for several years was its president. In his religious sentiments he is a liberal Unitarian, although in early childhood he memorized the Westminster Assembly's Shorter Catechism. Educated a democrat, but with strong antislavery convictions, he acted with the Democratic party until its devotion to the extension of slavery compelled its abandonment in 1846, and for the next ten years he acted as an independent democrat. Upon the formation of the Republican party, he joined it and continued in its ranks until in 1875 he resumed his connection with the democracy.

In the spring of 1877, forty years from his admission to the bar, Judge Fowler determined to retire from active practice. A severe illness in the fall of that year confirmed his resolution.

Before his full recovery, by the advice of his physician, he decided to visit Europe.

Accompanied by his wife, daughter, and third son, he left Boston on the 13th of April, 1878, and returned to New York on the 17th of October following, having during his absence, visited the principal points of interest in England, Scotland, Ireland, Italy, Switzerland, Bavaria, Austria, Bohemia, Saxony, Prussia, Hanover, Holland, Belgium, Germany and France.

He returned home with renewed strength and energy, and has since been in the full enjoyment of health and happiness, in the quiet of his pleasant home in Concord, and his beautiful cottage by the sea, near Rye Beach."

To this gentleman the author is indebted for as full and correct a record as he could obtain of the descendants of his ancestor Philip Fowler, who settled in New Market, N. H., in 1743, and for other valuable assistance in the publication of this work.

From the "Danvers Mirror" of 24 April, 1880, is quoted the following:

"Deacon Samuel P. Fowler was born in this town, April 22, 1800, and was therefore eighty years old this week Thursday. His parents were Samuel Fowler and Clara Page.

At an early age he learned the trade of tanning and currying from his father (who then owned the tanning and currying establishment now used and occupied by the son), a business which he has carried on to a greater or less extent to the present time. He was united in marriage to HARRIET PUTNAM,

Sam. T. Fewler.

[who was born in Danvers, 11 May, 1806], daughter of Moses and Betsey [Putnam] Putnam, December 3d, 1833, who is still living and enjoying the high esteem of a large circle of friends.

He represented this town in the Legislature during the sessions of 1837-8-9, and was a member from Danvers, with the Hon. Alfred A. Abbott and the Rev. Milton P. Braman, of the Constitutional Convention held at Boston in 1853. He was a Selectman and Assessor of this town during the years 1835-6-7, 1838-9 and 1840, and Overseer of the Poor from 1843 to the present time, with the exception of one year, and since the division of the town in 1856, has been Chairman of the Board. He was admitted to Jordan Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons, March 26, 1823, and is at present an honorary member.

When the Maple Street Church was first founded Dec., 5, 1844, he was chosen deacon, an office which he has held from that day to this.

He took an active part in the formation of the Walnut Grove Cemetery Corporation, having been much interested in the purchase and laying out of its grounds; and has been its President for more than thirty years. He was one of the corporators of the Danvers Savings Bank, which was incorporated in 1850, and one of its first trustees. He has been a director in the First National Bank of this town since 1863. He was one of the firewards when the fire department of the town was first incorporated. He was one of the twelve who organized the Essex Natural History Society in 1833, which afterwards was united with the Essex Historical Society, under the name of the Essex Institute. He has furnished articles for publication in the Historical Collections of the Essex Institute and has always been a contributor of articles to this paper on the early history of the town. He wrote the life and character of Rev. Samuel Parris of Salem Village, and his connections with the Witchcraft delusion of 1692. He edited an edition of "Salem Witchcraft by Robert Calef," published by H. P. Ives and A. A. Smith in 1861. He was appointed by George Peabody a trustee of the Peabody Institute of Danvers, and upon the resignation of Dr. Braman as President of the Board of Trustees, was elected President in his place, a position which he retained till a year ago last March, when he resigned it.

He has always been Chairman of the Library Committee and has selected most of the books in the Library.

In his youth he showed great taste for Natural History. This taste he has cultivated during his long and industrious life, so that to-day he has but few peers in this branch of learning. He has always been very fond of flowers, his garden containing the choicest varieties, and he takes the pride of a young girl in the elegant and tasty bouquets he prepares for his pulpit. A minister who was stopping at his house one Sunday, after the services at the church, asked him what young lady prepared the beautiful bouquet of flowers, that was placed in front of the pulpit, and was much surprised when the deacon told him 'that the young lady was a rough old man.'

He has one of the largest and best selected private libraries in this section, containing many rare and valuable books, which are enjoyed by some of the most learned men in this vicinity, among them John G. Whittier, the poet, and Abner C. Goodell, the antiquarian and editor of the Massachusetts Colony Laws. He has always been interested in the Temperance cause and a believer in Woman Suffrage.

His habits of life have been such that to-day he is a young man physically and mentally, and has the prospect of many useful years before him. The history of his life, like that of Elihu Burritt the Learned Blacksmith, teaches those persons who have not had the advantages of a liberal education, and who have adopted a trade or engaged in business instead of a profession for a livelihood, that they can become learned, honored and the peers of the professional or the liberally educated man in any literary or scientific pursuit."

He was one of the committee appointed to make arrangements for the celebration of the One Hundredth Anniversary of Danvers, on the 16 June, 1852.

He was Curator of Natural History in the Essex Institute in 1848, and Vice President in that department, in 1861, and so remained for several years. He was on the Field Meeting committee as early as 1857. He published in its Historical Collections, the following articles: "Journal of Capt. Samuel Page in the campaign of 1779, with notes;" "Biographical sketches of Rev. Joseph Green, Rev. Peter Clark and Rev.

Benjamin Wadsworth, D. D., Ministers of Salem Village (now Danvers Centre)." "Records of Overseers of the Poor of the old Town of Danvers, for the years 1767 and 1768 by the chairman of the Board, Capt. Elisha Flint, with notes;" "Crafts' Journal of the Siege of Boston, with notes."

He became a member of the "New England Historic Genealogical Society," in Boston, in 1862. See notice of him on page 43 of this work.
